TOWN TOPICS' 25th Annual Christmas Appeal Seeks Your Help

Christmas and its meaning . . . the brotherhood of man; the spark within every human being that gives him something of the Divine; the helping outreach toward another, less fortunate than yourself, that may change his life and bring him once again into the sun.

Each Christmas for 25 years, TOWN TOPICS has made a single appeal to the heart of the Princeton community, asking for money to make living possible for Princeton residents who may sometimes feel that living is quite impossible.

The usual channels of welfare normally provide food, clothing and shelter. But "need" means more than these, for many families. In Princeton, the Family Service Agency determines, for TOWN TOPICS, the best ways to help individuals and families out of the darkness and into the light.

The cases presented here, carefully documented by Family Service with names altered to protect privacy, are true examples of the ways your TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund is spent throughout the year.

Carefree childhood — that's what an adult thinks sometimes, as he counts over his own cares. But for many kids, life brings too many responsibilities too early. Mary, 11 years old, is the oldest of five. She has always been last in line, so that her younger brothers and sisters could have enough to eat and wear.

The father has been taking care of all five since the mother died last year, and Mary — only slightly over a decade in age — has been a substitute mother. Growing up too fast, with too many responsibilities and too serious an outlook on life, Mary needed to be a little kid once again, having the kind of fun a normal 11-year-old girl has.

Through the TOWN TOPICS fund, Mary was able to get away from home and spend a few weeks in the freedom of a summer camp. The weeks there may not have solved all Mary's problems, obviously, but they gave her a healthy experience to build on for the future.

It happens to boys, too, the weight of too much care. Peter, oldest of four, had been a cheerful, bouncy ten-year-old. But when his father was admitted to a mental institution and his mother had to go on welfare, he became silent and withdrawn, seemingly crushed by what had happened to his family.

He tried hard not to complain, but now and then he would burst out — "why can't I have the money to do things the other kids do!" His mother then felt guilty about having to deprive her children.

TOWN TOPICS funds were used to sign Peter up as a member of the YMCA, and to enroll him in his favorite club. This, in turn, relieved his mother of some anxiety and thereby freed her emotionally so that she could plan for her family.

There's an upbeat side of life, too, and TOWN TOPICS money is also used for just that extra needed boost. Michael, oldest of five, graduated from Princeton High with a good record. Eager to go to college, he had received several small scholarships that covered tuition, room and board. Books and travel expenses weren't covered, however, and there was no chance that the family, on its own slim means, could fill the gap.

Michael's father worked in a seasonal job, and over the years, he'd been able to provide for his family only through the most stringent budgeting. Michael himself could earn money for clothes through summer jobs, but that maddening gap still remained. TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal money has been used to buy Michael's books for the first semester at college, and will pay his way home to be with his family for Christmas.

An unexpected call came to Family Service one day from the Middle School. Would it be possible to find placement in a special school for a Middle School pupil?

It was Martha, a girl who had had trouble with learning and with behavior ever since she'd been in elementary school. Now, in her

Faith Is World-Wide in Religious Exhibit

THE SPIRIT OF THE SEASON: Faiths of the world proudly show their banners in the Religions of the World exhibit at John Witherspoon School. "Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit," proclaims the Christian banner in the center. On the right is the Jewish "Hear, oh Israel — the Lord our God — the Lord is One." The symbolic Christian fish is visible on the far right and the Cross on the left, suspended over a New England church. Behind the camera is a Kachina, from the Hopi American Indian tribe. In the center of the Atrium is a class, discussing the exhibits.

Happy is the one
Who finds wisdom,
And the one who gets Understanding.
For the gain from it
Is better than the gain
From silver,
And its profit better
Than gold.
It is more precious
Than jewels,
And nothing you desire,
Can compare with it.

These lines from Proverbs, cleanly lettered in black on white, greet the visitor who enters the atrium of John Witherspoon School, and they set the theme for a new "Religions of the World" exhibit.

The exhibit will be open to the public through December 22, when schools close for the holidays. Hours are 9 to 4; Saturdays, 10 to 1. Interested groups of people who would like to see the exhibit are asked to call the school first.

Directly behind the verse from Proverbs is a collection of prints by six Princeton artists on the theme of The Golden Rule, and from there, all around the light and spacious atrium are the age-old symbols of the faiths of the world. Although the exhibits are not directly oriented to any particular holiday, it is no accident that they have been assembled in the weeks before Christmas.

The purpose of the exhibit is to help in the schools' policy of teaching "about" religions, as opposed to "teaching religion," a policy which began to take form after controversy developed last year over the observances of Christmas in the schools.

All Faiths Represented. All faiths participated in the John Witherspoon exhibit.

"We met with nothing but encouragement wherever we turned," says Mrs. E. Frederick Laschever, guiding spirit behind the exhibit. "Teachers were receptive, parents asked if they could help, we met no opposition. And it was the most gratifying thing I've ever done."

Mrs. Laschever has been responsible for many various exhibits in the John Witherspoon atrium.

Nuns at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, at Mrs. Laschever's request, made a banner that sings "Alleluia!"

"middle years," she couldn't concentrate, couldn't complete her assignments, and therefore got into trouble with her teachers. She began running around with the wrong crowd, not showing up at school, falling farther and farther behind.

It seemed to be linked to conflicts at home, to a mother and father who were in constant battle with each other and consequently unable to give Martha the kind of help she needed.

The Need for a Change. If she could go away, out of the home atmosphere where there was so much tension, into a more benign environment, her energies and her intelligence could be directed toward learning — and toward a healthier development of her young personality.

Martha's parents, resistant at first, finally realized that in a school away from home, their daughter would not only have a better chance to realize her very real potential, but might be saved from getting into serious trouble in later years.

TOWN TOPICS funds, plus contributions from other concerned groups in town, made it possible to free Martha from her constricting environment and send her away to school for a year.

Boy with a Handicap. A congenital leg defect kept Johnny from having any fun. He loved games and sports and used to try to get in there and keep up with the rest, especially with his older brother.

But he was constantly frustrated by his handicap, and after a time, he just didn't try any more. He became more and more a loner, isolated from the other kids.

Johnny's parents knew of a special day-camp for handicapped kids, a place where those who couldn't move quite so fast were allowed to mingle with the normal youngsters. Johnny's older brother was fond of him and used to help him all he could, and it seemed like a good idea to send both boys to the special camp.

The problem — not enough money. Parents and Family Service agreed that it was extremely important to have Johnny's brother there, too, as support for Johnny. With TOWN TOPICS funds, plus money from other sources, both Johnny and his brother spent the whole summer in the special day-camp program.

It was more than just a wonderful summer. Those days in camp built up Johnny's self-esteem, made him feel, "Hey, I'm important, too!" in spite of his handicap. And the summer helped Johnny's brother, as well. He knew he could get into the rough-and-tumble of sports without always having Johnny in the back of his mind. Sure, he loved his little brother, but taking care of Johnny all the time made him cross, irritable. This was one time when the responsibility was lifted.

Troubles Increase. Another kind of special camp brought a whole new life for Mack, age 15. A strict father who withheld affection had given Mack an "I'm-no-good" view of himself. Suddenly, the father became ill, and had to be hospitalized with serious emotional problems.

From too-rigid parental control, Mack was suddenly in a situation with too-little parental control. He began running around and getting into trouble. His difficulties only intensified the feelings of inferiority and insecurity he already had about himself.

Mack's mother went to Family Service for help. The Agency knew of a special camp, and with TOWN TOPICS Christmas funds paying the tuition, Mack went off for eight weeks.

Here, in this special camp, he had opportunities to assume responsibility and leadership. With the guidance of understanding adults, and in a healthy situation with kids his own age, Mack developed a more affirmative view of himself and his abilities.

He's doing better in his school work this year. His mother says he is a really positive influence at home, and he seems to have found the inner strength to turn a bad situation into a new life.

Old and Out of Work. To be old, in frail health, out of work, facing a cold winter in a house without heat... That was Mrs. V.'s situation when she went to Family Service for help. She was living in a non-winterized house on a farm, and she didn't have a job. Her only friends were in farm work, but her health wouldn't hold up under that kind of labor any longer.

The agency found a warm place for her to live, and used TOWN TOPICS money to pay the rent until the local welfare agency could take over. Family Service then found Mrs. V. a job with a large industry in the area and arranged transportation through a neighbor.

She is a reliable employee, earning regular wages and regaining not only the strength she used to have, but self-respect as well.

The winter was an enemy for Mr. B., too. He had always worked in a seasonal job and he was now on welfare not only because the harsh winter had closed in, but because he was ill. And his wife was in the hospital.

Then he got a job. The pay was very good, and Mr. B. was eager to begin, but he couldn't accept the job because there wouldn't be anybody to care for his wife when she got out of the hospital. They had no family, no friends, no money.

TOWN TOPICS funds and the co-operation of the Home-maker Service, made it possible for a Homemaker to come into the B.'s home and take care of the convalescent wife.

This meant that the husband could return to work and start to support his family and pay off his debts. This, in turn, helped to speed the wife's recovery because it relieved her of worry.

Plagued by serious chronic illness and borderline poverty, Tim's mother and father have worked hard and desperately to maintain their family. But they are drained — physically, emotionally and financially because of overwhelming medical problems and the expenses of those problems.

Tim is one of five children.

He seems to be lost... somehow. He isn't neglected, but he's pushed aside. There are always more urgent things to cope with.

Summer camp away from home, paid for with TOWN TOPICS Christmas money, was like water and sunshine for young Tim. It showed him that he DID count, as a person. And even, for a time, while he was getting ready for camp, his parents focused their attention on him, and that was a good feeling. Finally, those weeks at camp enabled him, at least for a while, to get away from the oppressive problems faced by his family.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND. NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to Town Topics, P.O. Box 664, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. Every penny contributed goes to help the ones for whom we make this 25th Annual Christmas Appeal.

TOPICS Of The Town

IAP CONTRACT SIGNED
"Special Project" Still Debated. Township Committee gave its unanimous approval
Monday night to the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy drug contract, and then heard anguished pleas to keep the Child Guidance Special (drug)
Project alive.

The Project was apparently killed last month when both Borough Council and Committee declined to provide an additional $5,500 to see the project through to the end of the year.

Mayor James A. Floyd, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Jack Spinali, of Child Guidance, are scheduled to sit down and talk it over at a date still unselected.

Mayor Floyd warned Monday night, however, that Mr.
Spinali and Child Guidance would have to come up "with something new." Mayor Cawley said on Tuesday that while there was obviously a need for professional drug service in Princeton, he was only interested in phasing out the Special Project and planning a satisfactory transition to protect the 60 or so young people now in the Special Project's care.

Mrs. Mina Kempton, co-ordinator for the Project, told Committee there is "no other appropriate agency in the community" to deal with drugs

Drug Group Named

Princeton's new Inter-governmental Co-ordinating Committee for Drug Abuse Prevention began to take formal shape this week.
Borough Mayor Robert W.
Cawley announced that Council's representative will be Joseph Moore. The Board of Health member for the Borough will be Larry Ivan.

In the Township, where a new mayor is expected January 1, formal announcement won't come until then, either. But Mayor James A.
Floyd said Monday night that newly elected Committeeman Barbara Smoyer will be the Committee's representative. The Board of Health representative has not yet been named.

The member for the Princeton Regional School
Board will be the Rev. C.
George Fitzgerald.

the way the Project does. Michael Spicer, of the Child Guidance board, told Committee his agency was "not out of business in this community, and we're willing to work out whatever controls you think best."

Many Charges Made. Charges and counter-charges have been integral to the Special Project situation in the past two weeks. Child Guidance states that it has had no reply to communications addressed to Borough and Township, and some spokesmen charge that municipal officials haven't read their mail or done their homework.

Officials, including Mayor Floyd, say they haven't been able to get from Child Guidance the information they want. The requirement of the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA) that a program must be expanded before money can be granted, has apparently been misunderstood by municipal officials who question the size of the Special Project's application for SLEPA money.

George Easter, the Child Guidance spokesman, apparently told Councilmen and Committeemen last month that if Borough and Township didn't come up with the $5,500 to eke out 1971, Child Guidance funds were available.

"So why should we put the money up, if that's the case?"
asks Mayor Floyd.

The decision not to provide the $5,500 was made unanimously by all elected officials present at the joint Borough-Township meeting. The only absent members were Committeeman Thomas Hartmann and Councilmen Alice Male and John Strange.

Three-Way Agreement. The IAP contract approved by the Township will be signed by the Borough also, making a threeway agreement. SLEPA has agreed to IAP's $48,183 proposal. Borough and Township with the Borough as banker, will receive $36,133 in SLEPA money. The remaining $12,050 will be split by the two municipalities if nobody comes forward as a contributor.

The tightened contract, revised over a period of weeks and approved Monday night, says that IAP cannot solicit money without Borough and Township approval, and that any money IAP gets, goes toward reducing the municipal contribution.

IAP's young clients must be

Borough-Township residents or be part of the Princeton Regional School system. IAP must work through school counselors, but isn't obliged to accept any young person it thinks might disrupt the program.

The two municipalities must approve whatever final location IAP is able to find. In addition, all the detailed reports that SLEPA requires must be submitted to Borough and Township governments as well and if these reporting obligations aren't met, Borough and Township can withhold money.

The contract also states that IAP employees are not municipal employees. This frees Borough and Township from liability in case something goes wrong with an IAP element.

NO HUNTING?

Residents Hope So. Hunting in the northern preserves of the Township is driving home owners off their own property and creating a dangerous situation, residents told Township Committee Monday night.

Dr. Herbert Greenberg, a newcomer to Ridgeview, said the Antlers Sportsmen's Club had posted signs stating that Antlers members had the right to hunt on Greenberg property.

"We are deprived of our own property and of our privacy," and this is unconscionable," Dr. Greenberg declared. Mrs. J. Robert Hillier, a neighbor on Ridgeview Circle, concurred. She told Committee she had seen hunters only 100 feet from her house, although on an adjoining property.

"In the past, only the state has been allowed to make hunting laws, never a municipality. However, Township attorney Gordon Griffin explained that recent court cases may have liberalized that restriction so the Township might be able to draft an ordinance. It might be the kind that prohibits discharge of firearms within 450 feet of a dwelling, he said. Mayor James A. Floyd promised Committee would pursue the question, and added that if hunters are actually trespassing on property, the police would be happy to ticket them.

Landfill Approved. Committee passed a resolution sup-

With three weeks to go, 1971 may make its mark in the history books as the wettest on record. The first three days of this week added nearly another inch to the total.

porting the concept of a regional landfill by the Mercer County Improvement Authority. The proposal has the backing of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, the Friends of the Princeton Environment, the Conservation Coalition and the League of Women Voters.

In another resolution, Committee agreed to apply for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. If the Township is accepted, its residents could obtain flood insurance, which is not available commercially. Brinton Whitall, 94 Battle Road, was named to the Township's new Flood Control Commission.

Two joint Borough-Township employees and two Township employees can be hired through Township participation in the Federal Emergency Employment Program.

The agreement provides for a transfer-station operator for the Sewer Operating Committee at a salary of $8,000 and a maintenance employee for the Joint Recreation Commission at a salary of $7,000.

Job Opportunities. The Township will get a clerk-typist ($5,200 salary) and a custodian ($7,000). It is a 90/10 matching program, explained Acting Clerk Sue Nystrom: the Federal government pays 90% and the municipality, 10%. The Township will provide its own fringe benefits.

The municipalities may hire anyone who is a resident of Mercer County, but the employee must come from the ranks of the unemployed.

Because of the state moratorium on cable TV, Committee was unable to schedule the hearing requested by Jonathan S. Perel in regard to a cable television franchise.

Committee extended the life of the Township Planning Board one more year — to January 1, 1973.

The Pacific Southern Railway Company of Rocky Hill, New Jersey's largest HO Layout will hold its eighth annual Christmas Exhibition this Saturday and Sunday, from noon to 5 each day. Proceeds from the attendance will benefit the Princeton Hospital Emergency Wing Building Fund.

The HO model railroad is operated by a club of 18 members mostly from the environs of Princeton. During the past year the club has added an additional 1,000 feet of track and 72 switches, thereby increasing operation by 50 percent. Many other new features have been added, including a new solid state interlock at Shore Tower. The rolling stock and motive power has been expanded, representing many periods of railroading.

The show, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital, is actively supported by local community groups and business concerns. The First National Bank of Central Jersey has underwritten the printing charges. Nassau Conover and Princeton Motors will provide buses. The Rocky Hill Fire Company and Rescue Squad will supervise the ample parking facilities provided by Princeton Applied Research on Route 518, just east of Route 206. Passengers will be bused from their cars a short distance to the exhibition.

Reserved performances limited to 100 people are scheduled for 9, 10 and 11 a.m. on Saturday. For reserved tickets call Robert Latham at 921-9276.

Evening performances are also available on a block basis on the nights of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The charge per show is $175. A maximum of 100 people can be accommodated per performance. Interested parties should contact Mrs. Charles Jaffin, President of the Princeton Hospital Woman's Auxiliary, at 924-2837 or Mr. Latham.

During the seven years since the incorporation of the Pacific Southern, more than 15,000 children have visited this magnificent HO layout, which requires 15 members for complete operation.

Those stores in the area selling tickets include: Buxton's in the Montgomery Shopping Center, Mary Watts, Route 206, Nassau Hobby Shop, Nassau Street, Bill's Hobby Center, Morrisville, Pa. or Somerset Electronics, Somerset. Children's tickets are 75 cents, Adults, $1.25.

ROOMING HOUSE BURNS

General Alarm Friday. A stucco rooming house at 184 Witherspoon Street was the site of a general alarm fire Friday at 1:22 p.m.

Police report that the fire, whose origin is still under investigation, was confined to a second-floor room. There were no injuries; however, the room was badly damaged by the blaze.

Ptl. James Agins was able to borrow a ladder from a passing truck and managed to get most of the people on upper floors down by the time firemen arrived. Some residents were reported to be hanging out windows waiting to be rescued.

The 11-room building on the corner of Maclean Street, at one time a school and later a meeting place for Masonic Lodge members, is owned by Edward Grant. It was ordered closed following the fire by Borough Health Officer David Blake for safety reasons. He was overruled by Mayor Robert Cawley and Councilman Joseph Moore, however, and the boarders were able to return to the building later in the day.

Two thefts were reported during the confusion following the fire. Miss Kim Otis told police at 5:30 p.m. that someone had entered her room and stolen $60 in pennies and a suitcase while she was in the process of moving from the second floor to the first.

The theft of an $80 men's suit, electric iron and electric clock was reported at 6:40 p.m. on Sunday. Police identified the owner as R. Inambedar.

TWO PURSES STOLEN

At University Press. The purses of two employees of the Princeton University Press, 41 William Street, were stolen last week from first floor offices.

One belonging to Johana Hitchcock contained $50; the second, $4. It was owned by Polly Hanford. Police declined to give their addresses. Both purses were found later in the day minus the cash in a garbage can on Park Place.

The description of three young men in the building at the time were given to the police. When questioned, they had allegedly reported that they were looking for work.

Wallet Taken. A tan wallet was stolen last week from a suede purse on a shelf in the Witherspoon Art & Book Store.

MOSQUE AND KORAN: The Islamic faith is dramatically represented by this Mosque, and the open Koran on a book-stand in front of it, both in the atrium of the John Witherspoon School as part of the Religions of the World exhibit.

in American New England (or Central New Jersey) style.

An illuminated Koran, lent by Islamic scholar Philip K. Hitti, lies open before a tremendous, almost life-size mosque, painstakingly inlaid with colored mosaic "stones." It was built by Theodore Lynch, art teacher at the school.

Temples and Synagogues. Another art teacher, Rosemary Blair, built an oriental temple, and a Riverside art teacher, Lou Cicchini built a synagogue.

Exquisite little figures of Hindu gods and statues of Buddha have been contributed by Princeton Theological Seminary, and the biggest Buddha of all, so heavy it could barely be moved, also came from the Seminary's collection.

The vestments of the Catholic mass, a Catholic Bible and a foot-high figure of a monk, were also lent by Stuart Country Day.

"We sought out symbols that were meaningful to people in houses of worship," Mrs. Laschever explains. "We sought direction from the Princeton Pastors Association, and consulted with them frequently."

The project began many months ago, and was originally conceived by Mrs. Laschever and Mrs. Blair as a mini-grant proposal which they hoped the New Jersey Department of Education would finance. That didn't work out, and so the John Witherspoon PTO became the sponsor.

Great Variety. Every turn around the atrium seems to reveal still another temple or symbol. Hanging high at one end is the Christian cross, the lotus of Buddha, the tablets of the Ten Commandments in Hebrew, the Islamic "There is no God but Allah," the symbolic Christian fish and the god Vishnu. At the opposite end, high, is repeated the verse from Proverbs.

The exhibit is geared to the curriculum of the schools, under the overall direction of Mrs. Dorothea Lummis, and there is a bibliography with reference books to match.

Mrs. Jean McDonough, media co-ordinator for the schools, and Ken Bowers, audio visual expert at John Witherspoon, also helped to assemble the material.

The core group that worked on the exhibit consisted of Mrs. Laschever, Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Carl Davidson. Mrs. Daniel Migliore, Mrs. Roger Sullivan, Mrs. Dudley Hawkes, Donald Baird, and Marvin Levitt, art teacher in the Middle School, also participated and contributed art to the exhibit.

The six artists who developed the Golden Rule theme in their prints are Margaret Kennard Johnson, Ann Gross, Mae Rockland, Helen Schwartz, Trudy Glucksberg and Yvonne Burk.

Two Weeks Left to Shop, and These Tips Will Make It Easier

THE GLITTER & GLEAM

To see what might add extra grace to a Yule feast, we went into the Silver Shop on Palmer Square. There is much that will please a hostess, from the crystal oil-and-vinegar jars with sterling silver tops ($11) to a classic, fluted shell in sterling, about right in size for candies or small hors d'oeuvres ($50), and a footed serving tray made by Reed & Barton about 100 years ago. Lightly engraved around the edges. ($100)

There are collectors' spoons from demitasse to tureen ladle; including a coin silver serving spoon made in nearby Burlington in 1005 by S. Coleman.

The Silver Shop has some interesting Old Gorham silver: a set of four candlesticks about six inches high (copies of a 1755 version) and a sterling bowl with the shell motif at the base, elegant for flowers or heaped with ice cream.

You'll see many serving dishes, including some with lids; a beautiful German silver teapot of the late Victorian era, and a delightful array of child-size forks, spoons, pushers mugs and poringlers.

The Silver Shop has a fascinating set of 15 antique Minton dinner plates with a ring of gold-edged cobalt blue around the white centers. All in perfect condition. And antique Sevres porcelain base lamps—a handsome pair also in the rich cobalt blue, touched with gold and with insets of cherubs. Made in 1834 for Chateau Truffies.

Going on to LaVake Jewelers on Nassau Street, where limpid crystal Christmas trees in the window wear jewels for added lights, we paused in delight before the international collection of fine china and glassware. We were particularly drawn to the new French designs in glass.

A little something in Tiffany sterling would be nice, we thought, for her purse or his pocket—and LaVake's has pill boxes, money clips and key chains. A pillbox may be shaped like a spool of thread or a golden pine cone ($16 each); keyrings in such shapes as a heart or a snake. ($9 and $6.50).

Omega and Rolex have two watches much desired by young men we know: the Rolex GMT Master is the of-14-K gold toothpick, with a retractable tip ($25); and classic 17-jewel travel clocks by Concord in handsome leather cases ($80) at LaVake Jeweler.

A car vacuum cleaner that plugs into the dashboard lighter. The cord is long enough to reach last summer's gum wrappers. ($4.95) at Marsh Pharmacy.

Argyle pattern slipper socks in a choice of three plaids. Center Sports.

Exercise equipment from exercycle ($61.95) to weights. Center Sports.

Pipe holster in water buffalo skin to slide on a belt ($1.75); combination letter opener and stapler ($2.25); and the cordless electric Tie-Rack-O-Matic, that revolves the available ties around at the push of a button. ($9) All at Thorne's on Nassau Street.

Official watch of Pan American Airways ($275), and the Omega Electronic Chronometer is 14-K gold backed by stainless steel with a calendar ($260). Both carry as much information as a page of some newspapers...

Rings for young men, fathers and grandfathers come in 14-K gold and in natural gold. The signet rings in 14-K start at $50; all the zodiac signs are there ($40); and we especially admired a man's ring in natural gold set with black onyx with a diamond in the center. ($174)

Ladies' rings are exquisite and we are hard-pressed to describe them. A pearl heart adorns one, another is a flat gold bow set with rubies and diamonds ($220). Among the new Italian styles—a striking design of two entwined gold ovals. ($76)

For Santa's Favorites

You're right on target if you go to Stuff 'n Nonsense, on Moore Street opposite St. Paul's when you are shopping for pre-schoolers and the doll house set. Miss Phyllis Britcher, now 71, has a great feeling for the moppet set and has filled her shop with a great many traditional and fascinating things.

Wooden jumping jacks in painted medieval garb ($2.25); miniature white poodles in clear plastic balls to hang on the tree; a make-up and disguise outfit with beards and all ($4.50); parquet blocks in nursery colors (for ages 3 to 6); and small suitcases for doll clothes (or a bathing suit).

We browsed happily in front of the Beatrice Potter books—Peter Rabbit et al ($1.95) and the china figurines of her characters, especially amused by Jemima Duck and her print shawl ($7).

The original gori—a green suede frog with a mustard-color belly—is sprawling on a shelf. Nearby are sweet-faced dolls in international native costumes and others dressed as fairy tale characters.

There are doll house families ($3.50); china tea sets in various sizes ($1.50 to about $10); doll house furniture (a kitchen stove is $4, a sofa $6); there are doll houses, including the traveling model that opens up into a two-wing house with an upstairs, downstairs and a garage.

Many toys are made in England, including sets of soldiers, crusaders and small cars and trucks. We saw many dolls, story books, pajama bags, and smocks.

Country Mouse on Nassau near Davidson's also has a penchant for kids. There is a wall full of small this and that to browse through for gifts, stocking stuffers and party favors.

Little Baker is a kit filled with soft clay and cookie cutters ($2); there's a red alarm clock to fool around with, and small puzzles, finger puppets, little trucks, toy houses and the most enchanting collection of mice figures in town, dressed in various quaint ways. ($2.50)

To Stuff In A Sock

At Thorne's on Nassau Street are the famous perfumes: Dior, Lanvin, Chanel, Weil, Gres, Guerlain and Nina Ricci to mention a few.

There's the new Spray-a-top by Andrea that makes any cologne bottle a complete atomizer. ($1.25) And consider the "For Your Eyes Only" mirror, shaped to concentrate on the eyes while applying make-up ($10).

There are many cologne and after-shave sets for men, often packed in useful containers. And for the sweet, foil-wrapped candies in Christmas designs.

Rare shells at Princeton Gallery of Fine Art on Spring Street come from all over the world (under $50). Here, too, you'll find the 1972 Olympic art posters to roll up and slide into a sock. By recognized graphics artists, there are about 16 to choose from ($10).

A box of blazer buttons, enameled in elegant simple designs—a him or her type of gift ($30) at Gallery 100. Also slim bracelets and unusual pins and rings—only a few of a kind.

Beginners' kits from The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street include the Brick House Sampler for children to do ($1.25) and Mini Quick points by Bernat on rug canvas with large sections that work up quickly. The choice ranges to from teddybears to the peace symbol. ($4)

Six old railroad buttons for a man's blazer ($3); old bells; unusual pins with designs of grasshoppers, sea gulls and birds ($1.50 to $3) are all at the Now 'n Then Shop, Cranbury, right behind the Inn.

Country Mouse suggests Honey Dew beauty bath (or 20ple or peach or lime—in one-oz. envelopes; and Wild Strawberry soap, and some truly unusual leather belts by one of C. mouse's craftsmen.

For kids, from the Hobby Center on Nassau Street, there are such things as a set of construction magnets ($98); realistic little houses and railroad buildings to match the various 0-27, HO, and N gauge train pikes. Envelopes of stamps for the beginners; and Mini-planes, super detailed by Bachman, with moving parts and a range of design from biplanes to jets.

Golf gloves for either sex may be found in abundance at Center Sports in Princeton Shopping Center. ($2.50 - $4.98) A mini frisbee would fit in the sock, but not the new "moonlight" version. Center can supply a sportsman's pocket compass with a covered face and luminous dial ($1.25); all kinds of small accessories for fishing, hunting, golf, skiing and so on.

Christmas Trim

The hard-to-find Concolor firs will be at Ambleside Gardens and Christmas Shop by the time you get there. Ambleside is located on Route 206 in Belle Mead. Other cut trees include blue spruce, douglas fir, balsam and scotch pine. The sizes go from table-top to about 12 feet.

Living Christmas trees and holly plants for your lawn come balled and burlapped. There are many containers to browse through, such as a Mexican pot handpainted in gay colors. Others from $6.95.

Ambleside has unusual wreaths, plain or decorated to your choice. Large bins are filled with trim—Della Robbia fruit ($5.00); burlap bows; velvet apples, tiny cones from the giant Sequoia (four for $1) and pinyon pine cones (10 for $1); fuzzy white star cones in generous bunches ($.55) and all kinds of nuts.

We think the artistic souls will go out of their minds with the Ambleside offerings—birds pests ($.60 to $1.20); flocks of tiny birds, and painted wooden eggs. There are the Corn Husk people ($2.50 and up); little windmill creches; and more.

The Christmas shop at Ambleside also has "Wild Food Tiles," based upon Euell Gibbons' "Stalking the Wild Asparagus." Each tile illustrates the plant and gives a recipe ($1.97-$3.95). Also at Ambleside, watering cans for the indoor gardener; tin measures for the happy cook; wild animal shapes in candles; pottery mushrooms, bowls, figurines; and a very appealing sand casting of a madonna and child by Jean Bailey ($15.95) for a focal point among the greens on the mantle.

Ambleside is open all week including Sunday afternoons, but closed on Mondays.

Interesting Packages

It's the element of surprise that counts, and the tentative poking and guessing what's inside. In Marsh Pharmacy at 30 Nassau and in the Montgomery Shopping Center store we found some very good possibilities: a deep heat back massager by Pollenex that gives a soothing massage and infra-red heat either separately or together.

Sun lamps by Sperti for a winter tan. Protective goggles with both the super and economy sizes. Timex watches, including the "Marlin" for the early teens: expansion band, luminous dial, sweep hand ($13.95), and "Cavatina" with Roman numerals on a blue dial, water-and-dust resistant case ($11.95).

For travelers, a heating unit coffee set ($5) that's also good for tea, bouillon, and heating water for instant cereal.

Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy lamps are at Astro Lighting Galleries, Route One, just north of the Lawrence Drive-in. Originals in unbreakable rubber styrene, the finish looks like hand carved wood. Each lamp has the famous doll seated on alphabet blocks. ($31)

And a pool table light for the Minnesota Fats in your family or for over a poker set-up. Hanging from the chain is a shade with the look of stained glass, set in sections with pool cue motifs. Actually, it's molded fibreglass. ($68.95).

For the youth element in your family, replicas of the old Coca Cola lamps that used to hang by the soda fountain ($150). Smaller table versions ($18.25) The same type, in imitation glass, comes with nautical designs, or fruits or flowers as the motif.

Plexiglas bulbs, domes and cylinders for soft light. Colors are orange, or yellow or black. ($10.50) For a working light, a wing-over in chrome on a black table, or a George Kovacs desk lamp ($58).

Nassau Pharmacy at 80 Nassau has umbrella tote bags, made by Trina. The print is bright for a rainy day ($9.95). Also here, the Gardiner bill-folds for men and women. There's a slim one in antique brown ($5), and colorful versions for the ladies, such as shocking pink edged in dark gray ($7.50). Change purses, key holders match.

A Spanish doll sits on the Myrurgia box which contains compact, soap and cologne ($8), all in the Spanish style. We liked the purse mirrors—some of them magnify ($2.25), and the Mini Hair Dryer by Max Factor, for the young lady-in-a-hurry. It will comb and dry her hair all at once. Ready, set, go!

The Now 'n Then Shop in Cranbury is a curious place, with its blending of small antiques, handmade articles and objects d'art. For instance the shop has old bottles in all sizes and shapes (from $.50); old wineglasses ($1 each); stereoptican slides; horse brasses; packages of handmade clothes ($.75) for Barbie dolls (and for Skippy and Crissy, too); the famous Lind collectors covet; stuffed anti-Craft miniature furniture that mals, such as a kangaroo with her offspring tucked in the pouch ($7).

Roaming around—or rather, side-stepping around because the place is very small, we paused over an antique box lettered "Union Leader Cut Plug" ($17.50); and a pair of "Barley" and "Tea" caddies in white with blue edging; and a batch of old color prints on wood to hang in groups, perhaps. ($8) Among them "Winter in the Country" and "U.S. Frigate Independence."

Now 'n Then has pottery crocks for the front door step ($5); a bedwarmer stone with iron handle ($10) Apron covers that are very pretty and acorn wreaths for the front door ($7).

The Outdoor Life

For the cold slopes and the blasts on Lake Carnegie, Center Sports offers such protection as knitted face masks in 2 versions; heavy knit socks; nylon jackets; mittens and scarves.

Among the knit caps, the long, striped stocking type with pom-pom tip comes in a mix of colors blended with white ($3.95). The face cap has a slit for the eyes only and covers the wearer from the crown of his or her head to the collar, where it is long enough to tuck in ($2.50). In mild weather wear it folded up.

And there's also the face mask with holes at eyes and mouth outlined in contrasting colors, navy with yellow trim, for instance. ($2.50) All made by Wigwam.

We liked the ribbed caps in bright colors; the wide, warm scarves in two-color strips ($5.95) with matching hats. For the kids, "Trooper" hats in black or orange leather, pile-lined and held by a chin strap.

For the boys, Center Sports has knitted caps with football emblems — Jets, Cowboys, Vikings, and so on — double-knits in solid colors.

Sleds are back at Center Sports this year, the famous Flexible Flyer in sizes 45-inches to 60-inches. The manufacturer was held up by a fire last year.

Walkie talkies are coming on strong. Center has two-unit sets with a range of half a mile in open areas and about two blocks in built-up sections. ($19.95) For men, there are Acme and also Chippewar leather boots. These are a fine leather, about calf height, and well insulated. We also saw the Converse insulated rubber boots. Youngsters buy the La Crosse boot — sizes 3 to 7.

Ping pong tables that fold and roll have been added this year. The size opened out is the regulation 5x9; legs are tubular. Other games include the old standbys: Knok Hockey, Carooms, Skittles, and Kicket — all board games. The Steiga hockey game is available.

For boys and men, the Speed bag outfits — including training gloves, platform and a punching bag. ($17.95 to $35.95) There are also bar bells, dumbbells, and the Voit chin bars that fit in the doorway. (You can remove the bar and leave the supports where they are. For doorways 32-inches and less.

In fact, Center Sports has a complete line of exercise equipment, from mats on up, and both men and women's needs will be met. There are jogging suits for boys and men, and reducing suits for women. Looking around, golf umbrellas in two-tone stripes; covers for club heads; Minnesota Fat's cue sticks and other billiard accessories by Sports-craft.

Holiday Clothes

First, at Piccadilly on Nassau Street, were long skirts to add a feeling of glamor. Among them a kilt in blue Stuart; quilted wrap-arounds in cotton or acetate prints; packable banlons in strong prints, designed with a long slit at the side; and the hand-knit look in solid colors with a deep, deep border design in a contrasting color.

To wear with them, turtle-necks in flat knits or in skinny rib weaves. Or U-necks and tailored shirts — all easy care. Many, many solid colors.

COOKIE
MOLDS

The gingerbread bakers guild of the Middle Ages was famous not only for its honey and spice cookies, but also for the cookie molds which formed them. Carved by skilled woodcarvers, they were considered family heirlooms.

When Ivan L. Laxa, his wife Maria Jana nee Countess Kilowrat and their three children left their home in Czechoslovakia, they brought with them their family cookie molds. These will hopefully produce the means for their new life.

In their basement studio, they are making casts from the molds, reproducing the carved detail and the folkloristic originality. These handmade, hand-decorated wall hangings, are in a single color or gaily multicolored. Also, there are replicas of the original boards made of wood composition.

There are church themes and cavaliers, actors, tradesmen, newly-weds — always a perfect image of the costumes of the period 1500 to 1810. The gingerbread guild has long ceased to exist, but some of the original molds may still be seen in museums.

It's New To Us

Piccadilly has Ali McGraw hats; berets with the crocheted look in a shell pattern, and wide scarves with a knitted-in diagonal stripe.

There are pretty robes in cotton prints, edged in a blending color ($28); wide belts in dark leathers, leather handbags with restrained brass touches here and there, and an attractive collection of pants in jacquard, in narrow horizontal stripes, in the leather look, in corduroy, in vertical striped tweed...and some of these have the elastic waist.

The trend-setter will love the Parisian sweaters at Elle on Chambers Street. Among them a yellow-and-maroon cardigan bound in black, and a skinny rib with a scoop neck. ($15 to $30)

Elle's own little, long, clingy dress comes matte jersey or wool. Choose lavender, red, or green. Or you can break up the party in the newest version: an electric turquoise, with a strappy bare back and deep armholes.

For glitter at parties, Elle's metallic knit in ruby red. The skirt is gored and the top is the deep plunge-wrapover type.

($45). A darker glitter comes from the two-piece in charcoal gray Lurex, a fascinating fabric. The design is simple: a long skirt topped with a body-hugging turtleneck sweater.

We also like Elle's blazer in yellow felt. Felt? Why not! Bands of red, green and black at the cuffs and collar. ($32) And the classic brown velvet jacket is there, too.

Over in Pennington are two shops to check on: Reynolds Apparel and its daughter, known as "Up To You." The first is chic and classic; the second is a with-it boutique. Both are on West Delaware Avenue, about opposite the Pennington School for Boys.

At Reynolds, Evan-Piccone things, such as the three-button, wool jacket with easy tailoring. Soft gray, navy or camel color. ($47) And the E-P skirt that buttons down the front. In camel hair, and lined ($28).

Among the long dresses, an understated gray flannel with a princess line. The trim is red-and-green braid and silver buttons ($50); and another is smoky purple velour with attached hood — and very sexy. And among the skirts, wrapped paisley or flowered quilts, with color coordinated jersey tops. (Skirts $26 and up; tops $8 up)

Reynolds also has a gift corner filled with attractive handbags, unusual scarves, knit hats, and handmade burlap totes with amusing appliques. The tree is trimmed with imported handmade ornaments — such as a rocking chair with a violin resting on it.

Next door at Up to You are fashions for the size 3 to 13 in up-beat styles and good prices. The mood is young.

Thus, the football sweater-dress has a yellow "7" on the back. Made of navy orlon knit, the dress adds red-and-yellow sleeves. ($24 from Alberoy.) Lanz, Alley Cat and Emily M. have turned out fun things, too. Lanz' high-waisted dress in mustard-gold print; among them, There's smocking all over the bodice of a purple-and-rose print by Denise of California.

Up to You is showing long vests (handmade) in afghan squares ($12); fringed burlap shoulder bags ($4); orlon sweaters in knitted waves of purple, pink, green and yellow ($16); chamois skirts in a mini length ($38) and maroon suede shortpants ($16). Sizes 5 and up.

Long dresses for the teen girl include Lanz' white cotton and lace with demure neck and long sleeves ($54), fashioned after the Mexican wedding dress. For the junior size sophisticate, a halter neck dress, framed in dark velour with hazy flowers. From the waist up in the back, it's all up to you.

Robert Varga offers high style at a variety of prices. The shop has its own building on Route One, next to Donnelly and Capitol Sporting Goods, across from the Lawrence Shopping Center.

Long-skirt seekers will find a good choice in the range of $19 and $25. Platinum "satin" pants, too, by Geoffrey Beene ($60) with a matching, long-sleeved blouse, or choose another color ($38). There's a whole collection of interchangeable designed by Beene: pleated white satin skirts, gray metallic tops, petal-pocket jackets; sashes in soft colors, all very glamor-

Anne Klein is the girl for leather skirts: Varga is showing her wrapfront in antelope ($40) and the front-zip in smooth leather with metal eyelet trim ($100). There are also some holiday separates designed by her: velvet skirts the color of claret with taffeta blouses repeating the color in a checked pattern. The tops are embellished with bibbed and ruffled fronts.

Explore Varga's for short knit dresses in junior sizes (They about skim the knee) ($27); for belts with interchangeable buckles ($10); sweaters and shirts in bright colors ($12-14); and if you are heading south, see the cruise wear.

A Work Of Art

Some rare and unique things form part of the Christmas exhibition at Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, 3 Spring Street:

Pre-Columbian art; exotic shells from the oceans of the world; Randolph Bye's recent watercolors, and Wolf Kahn's latest pastels and oils. Both artists are nationally known; both offer visual excitement.

The Christmas exhibit will also focus on the work of Princeton's Dorothea Greenbaum, whose child sculpture is a delight to all who enter the children's wing at the Public Library; Thomas George, Clarence Carter, Robert Nalkin, Stefan Martin, Joseph Ablow, and last, but not least, Jacob Landau. There are signed and numbered original prints by Vasarely, Cal-

Something For The Girls

A pendant necklace of gold stones the size of grapes, set in old silver; another of cylinder shapes in cobalt blue and deep rose, spaced by beads. At Elle on Chambers Street.

Gold lockets at LaVakes are sentimental, perhaps, but it is that time of year. A gold weave with room for two pictures ($112).

Key chains that can't be easily lost: held by a painted, eight-sided disk as big as your fist, and featuring childhood figures, such as a sunbonneted girl; a big-eyed boy head, or a pigtailed girl in a sou'wester. In full color, ($2.50) at Piccadilly. Enamelled, handsome brooches in tasteful designs, contemporary in mood, ($3) Stuff 'n Nonsense.

der, Dali, Damjan and Anusz Aletier Mourlot ($35.) Kiewicz.

In The Eye for Art at 7 Spring Street, the offerings roam many facets of art. Nigerian sculptures, exquisitely detailed rubbings from Medieval brasses in Belgium; to a group of matted prints dating 1790-1797, including an imaginative rendering of a frog with tadpoles hatching out of port-holes on his back; and a half-bat, half-snake right out of "Creature Features."

Eye for Art has Donald Werden's watercolors, including some that are more contemporary than his popular Princeton area scenes. These you must see.

There are woodcuts and wood engravings (from $6) among the many graphics. They are matted. And some outstanding samples of nature's own art work: rocks, a pair of quartz book ends; geodes, septarium, and fossils and fish embedded in Utah rock-heds a million years ago.

In Cranbury, the 'Golden Gallery is showing paintings of peacocks and antelopes on bark ($3.50-$15); brilliant tin roosters ($7.95) and a painted tin soldier on his tin horse ($18.95).

There are many graphics, including Ben Shahn's "Dove of Peace" and his poster from

Kits From Kris Kingle

In the past year, the Hobby Center on Nassau Street has doubled in size and has added craft projects for all ages. Much of this is in kit form giving a beginner a good start.

Antique candles offer a new hobby for some. The kits include a wax that makes a non-smoking, ash-free candle, a tin mold for six, various scents and so on. There are also "Little Gina" candle kits. ($7.98 up)

Glassware at home can be beautified with the glass stain kits; there are metal art sculpture kits and sculptured "Swingthings" to make with wire and colorful plastic dip. Maerame, the art of knot tying, is introduced in a slick little $3.49 set — and there is much more.

The Hobby Center has wood burning kits; rock tumblers for young gemologists; a junior size silk screen printing outfit; the whirling disc "Spin-art" kits ($6.95) that creates unduplicating designs in color.

There are Handy Andy tool sets in metal boxes ($4.98); dune buggy models with electric motors and automatic steering ($7.88); miniature Roman soldiers; floating canoes with two Indian paddlers (75¢); and HO racing cars about 2½ inches long.

From England, menagerie models for a young collector ($1.25 and 40¢); Civil War soldiers from flagbearer to field officers (98¢), and models of battling Crusaders. Microscopes start at $10.49, depending on the power of magnification, and there is a fascinating amount of stuff to be examined under the lens, each in inexpensive little kits.

Hobby Center has the new Lionel Wabash Cannonball ($25 for set that includes oval track); among the HO is a woodburner engine for an old time pike, and there's lots of N gauge equipment. We saw stamp kits for the beginner, and packets of stamps.

Among the plastic models, B52 Strato Fort, a Ferrari, a huge "US Constitution", classic cars like the 1932 Chevy Phaeton. And the action stuff includes racing cars, airplanes to build and fly, and an electro Experimental kit, ($11.95 and under, as far as we could figure)

To start a young lady on needlework that won't discourage her, The Knitting Shop at 6 Tulane Street has pillow kits at $8 to $12. Themes include a Princeton tiger. There's also in another kit, a bubble gum machine design that employs gay colors.

For the experienced crafts woman, The Knitting Shop has a very special Irish lace Afghan kit. It contains acrylic or worsted yarn in a sunny yellow and an off-white; the needles are generous size 18's. ($18.95)

Football weekenders from all parts of the country discovered the shop's Indian design needlepoints and have deluged the shop with countless long distance calls. These are for the experienced.

The shop has knitting stands and monogrammed baskets. There are crewel embroidery kits (from $1.50) and bargello projects (red tones for an eye glass case ($1.75))

In The Men's Shops

Thinking of gifts for men, we started with the young swingers by stopping in at Saturn, 4 Chambers Street. Here is the biggest collection of jeans outside Fun City. Consider cowhide jeans the color of burnt orange ($55); or jeans of cocoa brown velvet — and all fabrics and weaves in between.

A white suede vest from France is trimmed in aqua. Close-fitting "people sweaters" in Italian wool include an eye-catcher; all white with blue sleeves and a design of small African dancers. The long overcoats in French wool are much in demand. Saturn offers a rust-toned jacquard weave, solid navy and also a smoky blue-green. ($105).

The shop has handsome ties made of everything from crepe to brocades ($5 to $15); excellent handcrafted belts in leather and suede ($5 up). There are man-style knapsacks in two-tone leather with metal buckle accents.

Bill's Men's Shop at the corner of Witherspoon and Spring Streets has Knox and Stetson hats. A gift certificate would be handy for this. There are velours, Tyroleans, tweeds, felts, suedes, cossack types and tweed caps.

Among the robes, terry cloth in solid color and others with a white trim. All are Cabana models. Pure wool robes in navy or burgundy with corded trim, and true plaids in wool and nylon and all-cotton flannel are also available. In corduroy, the shop offers solid colors with matching satin lapels and belt.

Think Young At Christmas

Peace dolls, made of painted china, and with jointed limbs. Limited edition by Helen Cook of New Hope. All with the antique look. Stuff 'n Nonsense.

Gift bags of Christmas papers, eight sizes, all in different patterns. Ready to stuff a gift inside. (85¢) Stuff 'n Nonsense. Ice skates, volley balls, tetherball, ($6.95 up) Center Sports.

Hot Wheels, small racing cars with track included. There's an "extra supercharger for additional track. At the Hobby Center.

Chemistry and biology labs for Middle Schoolers ($6.98 and $11.98) Hobby Center. A red stocking packed tight with many kinds of shells. ($2.50) Country Mouse.

Music boxes at Stone's Linen and at Thorne's Nassau Street store. And there are junior zithers at Stuff 'n Nonsense.

More For Males

Going over to Princeton Clothing Shop at 17 Witherspoon, we explored the extremely attractive sweaters. One is the "Scotch tumbler," a Shetland- and dacron washable in heathered aqua, brown, green or cranberry ($11). Made by Jantzen. There are some excellent McGregors too in crew necks and turtle necks ($12 to $20).

Princeton Clothing has the new knit slippers that are packable as can be. They're a softer version of slipper-sock. ($4 $6) Also the Jiffy slippers. —Continued On Page 24 gloves are worth considering. Some have the knitted insert. There are leathers and suedes, many with fleece linings; and from West Germany, perforated driving gloves.

The sweaters are so numerous, that we feel you'll just have to explore. Turtle and V-necks and crew necks. There are stripes in bold colors and argyles. (Argyle and hounds tooth weave socks, too)

Bill has wool ties from Scotland, dress shirts in all styles from tapered, to button down collar to knits. And slacks 3,000 in stock ($9 to $30).

Looking into the Army-Navy Store on Witherspoon Street, we found that the big seller in pants is uncut corduroy. It has a soft velour appearance. All are flares and the color range goes from burgundy, gold, and lavender to the earth colors.

Army Navy offers good buys in shoes and boots for hiking, hacking around and even work. They're in suede and calf. We also saw snow boots in rubber, with pile linings. All are very reasonably priced.

Sweaters include heavy ribs in heather tweeds. Some with zippers down the front. There are a few Nordic pattern ski-skating sweaters that are colorful and very rugged.

In a lighter vein, Army Navy's turtleneck jerseys have elasticized necks, which prevent the chin sag. Choose plain or rib stitch. The shop also has long-tailed flannel shirts in some fine plaids. And dress shirts in prints, stripes and solid colors. We even found an Indian lace-up front on a collarless style in ribbed pin-wale corduroy.

We liked the neckties we saw, and the wide scarves in restrained stripes.

No Mini-bikes!

No mini-bikes (alias "go-carts") are allowed, by state law, on streets or highways, and if your child takes one out into the street, you can be held responsible for any damage that results, and even sued.

Not only that, Township Police will confiscate any mini-bike scooting along a Township street, and hold it until the young owner's parents reclaim it.

Mini-bikes or go-carts fall under the definition of "motor vehicle" set forth in New Jersey laws. But they cannot be registered because they don't meet New Jersey's minimum safety requirements.

They can be driven on private property only if the driver has the written consent of the property-owner and even then, they can't be raced or operated in any exhibition of skill unless the track is licensed.

The Flower Basket, which started in 1943 in a little store which is now part of Thorne's Pharmacy, has twice as much space as it had for 20 years at 126 Nassau. All the plants are placed on wet stones; many of the cabinets convert into display areas. The sizeable refrigeration unit is unique, Mrs. Hillier notes. "We're able to keep all arrangements under Prices Provided by Princeton Office of Clark, Dodge.

The boutique, where customers may comfortably perch on rattan stools, has many accesseries for flower arrangers. Due any day is a new type of flower holder for crystal bowls. On the shingled wall are five rings of thick wood, each holding display shelves. Each ring a different size. On the opposite wall are soft-toned mirrors. Much of the new design can be credited to Mrs. Hillier's son, architect J. Robert Hillier.

Meet the Staff. Staff members include Florence Phelan, a florist for nearly 50 years, who is shop manager; and Alice Helgesen, both of whom were formerly with Applegate Florists; Myrtle Conley, another "retired" person, and students' wives. Around them is a profusion of flowers and plants. Just inside the door is a young Norfolk Island pine, it's feathery boughs trimmed with Christmas balls.

Mrs. Hillier has won gold medal awards for her flower arrangements. She studied at the Elise Cutler School in Salem and at the New York School of Floral Designing. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt surprised her with a note of appreciation for a corsage. She has designed arrangements for Margaret Truman, for Sarah Churchill, and sent flowers to Queen Elizabeth in behalf of a Princeton Junction man now deceased.

The Flower Basket even supplied philodendron for Mae West's dressing room when she was here at McCarter. "I begged them to be sure and water the philodendron — but no one did!"

She insists on fine, fresh flowers, and has a money back guarantee. "Now I have this wonderful refrigeration, which is very important. Everything must be fresh."

She is also an artist, and has won awards for her abstract paintings. And she is having a book on flower arranging published by McGraw Hill.

TO OPEN MOVIE HOUSE

In Shopping Center. A variance for Stage 10 Theatre, the planned 500-seat theatre in Montgomery Shopping Center, Route 206, was unanimously approved Thursday by Montgomery Township Committee. The application was made by Rocky Hill Realty, Inc. of Princeton Research Park.

The realty firm previously had approval only for shops in the center. Now under construction, the theatre is expected to be finished in February. Dick Skeffington of the Rocky Hill Realty said Tuesday. It will be an owner-operated enterprise by five partners, leasing the building from Rocky Hill. He noted that the partners, who are from out of the area, "expect to start several more."

He said that films rated G, GP and R will be shown, but no X-rated films.

Schools Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

After reading the Daley's letter to the newspaper (TOWN TOPICS, December 2), we would like to second the points they made.

While we have had experience with only one elementary school in this system, we have been pleased with the extraordinary concern evidenced for the educational well-being of our children.

They go willingly, even happily, to school; it is in no sense a threatening place. There is an openness and friendliness about the school that makes them feel at ease with the various school personnel they see.

We are impressed by the efforts of the administrators and teachers to keep parents informed of developments at the school. The weekly bulletin is commendable, as are the many opportunities for parents to communicate with teachers.

We are impressed too by the willingness to try out a variety of programs and approaches. It is in part this flexibility which enables children to enjoy school by feeling that they are participants and not merely observers.

Save Special Project.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

While the Youth drug problem continues to make page one news, we read that the only professionally staffed drug abuse prevention center is being allowed to die because Borough and Township have several reservations.

Point one is that Special Project treats patients from other communities which do not contribute to its support. The fact is that while 7 other towns share in 31 percent of the patient load, 69 percent of the youngsters are from Princeton.

It should not be too difficult to work out arrangements for treatment payment as they have been worked out between Princeton Regional Schools and sending districts.

Point two is that treatment costs are too high. It's generally realized that fully 10% of the $50,000.00 budget for 1971 is for rent alone? No other drug prevention program carries this burden in its budget.

If we take the drug problem seriously, let's save Special Project now, and then work on the two moot points. Local support will produce State support. It would be tragic to permit Project's demise now and then wring hands six months hence.

Tennis Program a Success.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Community Tennis Program would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have helped to make this past spring and summer tennis season such a success.

Each year the Program tries to accommodate the Community's growing interest in tennis. As we expand, more and more assistance is needed in order to maintain this low cost community wide type of recreation.

Hundreds of people are called on yearly to run the many facets of the Princeton tennis activities, i.e., adult and junior tournaments, round robins, ladders, fund raising, scholar ships, various related committees and chairmanships.

We are indebted to all the generous people who donate funds and volunteer their valuable time to the operation of the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

In particular, we give a special thanks to the many who have donated used tennis balls and rackets which are always needed and welcomed. Many of our students would not be able to participate without the aid of interested citizens with funds and equipment.

In closing, we take this means to express our gratitude and great appreciation for your enthusiasm and moral and physical support in the "cause" of tennis.

Your Help Is Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We were chagrined to learn from the press and through a second appeal from the First Aid and Rescue Squad that this remarkable organization was falling far short of the funds needed to carry on its good works.

Those of us who have need for its services and are filled with admiration and gratitude for its know-how and kindness must, we are sure, have already opened our pursestrings—perhaps we should have opened them wider. And to those of you who so far have been fortunate enough not to need their help, remember that some day they may save your life!

Their service is free to all and we urge the community to show its appreciation by making a contribution to this wholly volunteer life-saving group.

12 Nassau Street. The owner of the purse and co-owner of the store, Mrs. Mary R. Hicks, lost $10.

Following a description of the suspect, Ptl. William Hunter arrested Conway McGowan, 22, 246 John Street, in Borough Hall where he was waiting to face a previous charge in Borough Court that afternoon.

Charged with larceny by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud, McGowan was sentenced to 20 days in jail.

TV Set Taken. The theft of television sets in Princeton continues its record pace.

A portable TV valued at $100 and a $140 electric typewriter were reported stolen Thursday from his home by John Savarese, 204 Witherspoon Street.

He told police the intruder entered a rear door. He placed the theft between 1:45 and 5:50 in the afternoon.

THEFT YIELDS $5305

At Mathematica. Thieves stole office machines valued at more than $5,000 between 10 Friday night and 10 the next morning from the second floor offices of Mathematica, 120 Alexander Road.

Taken, according to Township Ptl. Jerry Offredo, were seven IBM executive typewriters valued at $661 each which had been leased from the IBM Corporation; three adding machines, $6 from an envelope in an employee's desk and $5 in coins from a coke machine. Total haul: $5305.

The thieves were believed to have left the building from windows two stories below. One, apparently drinking soda during the theft, spilled it down the steps. "You could follow it all the way down," Ptl. Offredo said.

The theft was reported by Betty Cox, a part-time employee.

In another theft Saturday, an electric calculator was stolen from Center Stationers in the Princeton Shopping Center. Two young men were seen carrying it, according to Ptl. David Funk.

Township police also list the theft of a $120 stereo set taken early last week from the home of James J. McNamara, 55 Marion Road East. Nothing else was stolen.

Police reported that entry was gained through a rear cellar window. Mr. McNamara discovered the theft when he returned home at 6:45 p.m.

3 SENT TO GRAND JURY

Following Hearings Here. Three Princeton area men have been referred to a Grand Jury for possible action, following preliminary hearings in Borough Court last week.

Robert J. Levinskas, 22, 169 Washington Road, Rocky Hill, has been charged with possession and sale of heroin; Vincent Boone, 20, 16 Leigh Avenue, who waived his hearing, has been charged with the larceny of a pocketbook from a Princeton University coed on campus; and Lawrence N. Stokes, 27, of Trenton has been charged with the larceny of rings valued at more than $6,000 from LaVake Jewelers and a second larceny at Marsh & Co., 30 Nassau Street. Both thefts were the result of daylight shopliftings.

Kevin J. Jones, 19, 438 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, was fined $35 for possession of marijuana in a parked car near Princeton High School, and Susan B. Romano, 21, of Middletown, was fined $25 and placed on six-months probation for possession of forged prescription blanks.

Gary Marshall, 19, of Clay Street, paid two fines: $35 for possession of hashish for which he also received a 60-day suspended sentence and probation for one year; and $25 for possession of narcotic paraphernalia — plus a 6-day suspended sentence.

Conway McGowan, 22, 246 John Street, was sentenced to 20 days in jail for stealing a pocketbook at the Witherspoon Art & Book Store, 12 Nassau Street. Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. set the sentence at 20 days so the defendant would be released in time for Christmas.

THREE ARE FINED

In Traffic Court. Three Princeton area residents have been fined in Princeton traffic courts.

In the Borough Monday, William Link, 17, 26 Mercer Street, paid $15 for careless driving, and Charles G. Gross, 35, 84 Maclean Street, paid $12 for failure to keep to the right.

In Township court last week, Judge Burton Peskin fined R. Thomas Steenken, 28, 55 Main

CHANGES APPROVED

In Master Plan. The Regional Planning Board voted Tuesday night to approve Master Plan map changes in the center of the Borough. The changes will now be implemented in a zoning ordinance amendment, up for public hearing before Borough Council next Tuesday.

The idea is to limit business expansion in the heart of town and protect homes in central residential areas. The areas involved are Bank Street, the houses fronting on Park Place, and the houses along Charlton-Olden-William Streets.

Bruce French, lawyer for the Christen Realty Company that owns 4 Nassau Street (and also L'Abrie's Restaurant) said 4 Nassau shouldn't be included in the Park Place area change. The building used to be South's Garage. It fronts on Nassau and has extensive parking in the rear, behind the houses on the west side of Bank.

When the Christen company bought the property in 1963, it was zoned for business. Subsequent changes in 1967 placed it in the Residential-Office zone. Mr. French protested that putting it in a residential zone would "freeze" the property and prohibit further development.

His client didn't have any particular change in mind right now, Mr. French conceded; it was the principle of the thing, and besides the 1967 change had already lowered the value of the property.

As the discussion continued, it developed that nobody was really sure whether 4 Nassau was included in the change anyhow. It was, on the Master Plan map. But the front of the property, facing Nassau, is in the Central Business District zone. The rear half, ruled counsel William Miller, is included in the zoning ordinance amendment, but the zoning map and the Master Plan Map differ from each other.

Another Protest. Protest came also from Donald Pickering, who owns the Pickering Office Building on Chambers, and has bought two pieces of Bank Street property, one now rented and one a house damaged by fire. He wants the properties for additional parking space behind his office building.

His lawyer, Samuel Lambert III, suggested an R-5 zone, allowing some parking areas along Bank and providing for a change in zoning requirements so that Bank Street's large houses on small lots wouldn't be in violation of zoning laws.

Mrs. Rita McCloskey, 21 Bank, protested against the protestors. She told the board that Bank Street residents "want to protect our homes the way these lawyers want to protect their clients. They are acting merely for business—these are our homes."

She added that the last thing Bank Street needs is more parking. "We waited five years for a fence to hide that Pickering parking lot," she said.

DRIVER IS INJURED

When Her Car Hits Pole. A 37-year-old Borough resident was injured early Saturday morning when her car crossed the opposite lane and struck a service pole on Witherspoon near Franklin Avenue.

Minnie L. Rhodes, 327 Witherspoon Street, told Ptl. Gerald Patterson that she was driving home and did not remember anything about the 2:35 a.m. accident. Taken to Princeton Hospital in a First Aid ambulance, she received 11 sutures for a laceration of the knee. She was also treated for lacerations of the scalp, forehead, lip and two fractured fingers. Ptl. Patterson, in his report, noted that the victim appeared to have suffered shock after the accident which may account for her inability to recall what happened.

The entire front end and windshield of Mrs. Rhodes' car were damaged. She was ticketed for careless driving.

BIRTHS

Twenty-one Born. Ten boys and 11 girls were born last week in Princeton Hospital.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Payne, 5-D Dorchester Apartments, Cranbury, November 28; Mr. and Mrs. Horst Witzke, 7-W Hibben Apartments; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Capik, 159 N. Harrison Street, and Mr. and Mrs.

ANNUAL DRIVE OPENS

Youth Fund Sets Goal. The Princeton Youth Fund has launched its fourth annual fund drive to help make possible selected projects for the youth of the town. Board Chairman Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth announced this week.

The major goal this year will be support of the Career Development Awards program—the first such project of its kind in the United States whose purposes is to provide scholarships for capable, motivated high school graduates who wish to specialize in vo-

As well as benefiting young people who are oriented to vocational-technical programs, the Career Development Awards also help meet the growing needs in service industries, business and government. It helps to train students in such fields as auto mechanics, computer science, electronics, fashion design, nursing, secretarial skills, and merchandising.

The CDA program aims to be on its own after the initial commitment of support for awards for this year and next. The project is also backed by the Jaycees, with the profes-in corduroys, and terry cloth in various colors.

Some men are slow in trying the double-knit suits, but when they take one away on a business trip with them, they come home convinced. No wrinkles, no sags, no problems. Princeton Clothing has a good selection. A way to get him started is through the double-knit slacks, or a double-knit sport coat. (Slacks from $17; jackets about $65)

Investigate the double knit shirts by Pablo. They have the pebbly look of crepe. Colors are cream, blue, and soft red ($10-$16). Dress shirts nicely styled by Arrow and Van Heusen are also available.

For a turtleneck to wear for dress, Princeton Clothing offers flat knits and ribs in solid colors. ($4.50 to $70). And see the berets ($7) and fur hats for the Princeton professor look.

Go down U.S. One to F. W. Donnelly and Sons. This is a fine, well established Trenton firm that has moved out of the center city into an extremely pleasant new store. It is located about opposite the Lawrence Shopping Center.

Picture Books and Beginning Readers

From the Princeton Public Library, the following thoughts for the small fry on your list: (Prices about $5 or under)

Picture books: "The King's-Fountain" by Lloyd Alexander. (Ages 5-9); "Animals should definitely not wear clothing." Why? "Because it would be disastrous for a porcupine!" By Judi Barrett (Ages 3-5); "Wonder-Fish from the Sea," by Josef Guggenmos (ages 5-8); Marcel Marceau Counting Book, by George Mendoza. Marceau goes from 1 to 20 by trying on different hats. (All ages)

Beginning Readers: "Danny and the Dinosaur" by Syd Hoff "Frog and Toad are Friends," Arnold Lobel; "Six Silver Spoons," Janette Lowrey (A child's experience during the American Revolution); and "Little Bear," by Else Minarik; delightfully funny. (All $2.50)

In general, men's lounging robes ($18); pajamas (from $7) and some great ties (from $1) Both boys' and men's wear is her.

Gift sweaters include heavenly soft lambswools from England in a full-fashioned style that abets the masculine look. Lots of colors to choose from. (by Alan Paine, $18 and $25)

For outerwear, Stratojac's lined herringbone jacket, with a removable alpaca collar. Sizes 36 to 46. There are shoes by French Shriner, including sic slippers by Evans for lazy excellent boots; Jarman shoes and Hushpuppies. Classic slippers by Evans for lazy Sunday mornings.

Donnelly has restful easy chairs in the center section devoted to slacks: knits by Farah ($21) in wine, brown, camel or checks; holly red dacron-and-wools by Majer ($37.50), and much more including some fine plaids.

In the younger boys' department, uncut corduroy pants in slim and husky sizes ($90) to pair with front-zip cotton velour shirts ($11).

The same department has great belts, especially the wide cowhides with chunky buckles, including a big Indian head coin.

There's also a "Strobe Room" for prep and student sizes, where the youth will admire Lee's jeans in wide wale corduroy (About $12 in navy, purple, brown, rose). Some are hip-huggers for the lean look. Matching jackets, too ($12). CPO jackets come in blue or gold plaids, and with a zip-out lining. ($25). And there is a nylon shell jacket in navy with white polyester lining and a huge zipper that is big enough to never jam.

For the youth, knit polyester turtlenecks ($6); stretch gloves with non-slip palms ($2.95); ski pajamas ($4.50); and double-knit sport coats that include the three-cartridge pocket style in a small navy-and-white check. ($57.)

The glamor shoes for holiday parties are at Nassau Shoe Tree in Palmer Square. There are the traditional gold and silver kid and lame, as well as many new and elegant silks.

Pabizio uses gold lustre calf in a simple pump, with an accent of gold piping across the toe ending in an etched gold button. From Jacques Levine, black silk sandals with the ribbon look (also in gold or silver), and from Color Mate a gay, young sandal with three wide straps across the foot, each a different color, and touches of still more color at the heel.

In silver lame, an unusual d'orsay cut pump at the center front, trimmed with a thin line of brilliants. By Hill & Dale, whose silver kid with silver lame inserts over the toe is equally sophisticated.

Nassau Shoe Tree has some very dressy black suede shoes that many women will like. Among them, Rosina Ferragamo Schiavone's elegant pair with a cut-out scalloped edge at the side.

Gold lame in a filigree cut goes across the toe and again across the instep of a chic sandal by Color Mate. There's a slim strap at the heel.

For your slipper gift, see the new Omphies in pastel calf with a gentle fringe of fluff at the opening.

As for evening bags, you will quite likely find a match for your shoes or your gown. We noticed gleaming black patent in a deep, envelope-type bag, accented by a medallion and a gold shoulder chain. In black silk, a gathered insert below the clasp; and others with restrained bits of gleam and glitter. Small beaded bags in oval shapes are very beautiful, touched with crystal tints on the lid.

In Montgomery Shopping Center, JMJ House of Shoes is a family store. Roaming through we saw fur-topped white boots for toddlers ($6); gold and silver mesh evening bags with a shoulder strap ($17.50); silver lame boots — and even pearl-look vinyl boots for evening wear. ($20 to $24).

In exploring the boots further, we noticed girls (sizes 10½ to 4) high buckled boots in russet brown. There a small coin pocket at the top. Adjustable buckles are a feature of the Spicca of California boot, good for women with heavy legs. Set the front buckles for comfort, then use the side zipper for speed. ($35).

JMJ has strap sandals in black and in wine velvet, and a creative variety of shoes from Greece, Italy, Spain and Israel.

Christmas Miscellany

Some shops have such variety on display that you find gift ideas that surprise you.

Lucar Hardware in Princeton Junction offers the Proctor-Silex ice cream churn. Motor-driven, praise be, and capacity of four quarts ($18.95). The 20-piece set of Corelle by Corning, is a find, it is wonderful stuff that looks and even rings like china and survives the plunge in the family dishwasher with much aplomb. There are extra plates (four for $4.80) for buffet suppers.

Lucar has bundt pans in heavy cast aluminum ($6.98); and for daughter, the Mirro dialamatic cookie set ($4.67). You won't believe, but Lucar will custom-cut shades while you wait from a selection of flowered or striped vinyl. There is the solid burlap-look too. (Prices $3.49 to $5.49; up to 37" wide.)

Black and Decker tools include the ten piece jig saw kit ($19.95) for the craftsman, and by Workhorse, a one-quarter inch drill ($11).

Thorne Pharmacy in Princeton Junction has a collection of fine glassware. Look for the pontil mark on the base of each piece that proves it is handblown. Beautiful colors for your table or window, including a clear, ruby red apple.

The same shop has the Borg scales for bathrooms in decorator colors. Add a furry slip-cover for cold mornings ($8.95). We saw a good supply of gift clocks in various sizes by Westclox. For the children, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck clocks, with those famous gloved hands that point out the time. (By Phinney-Walker, $8.95.)

And salesman's delight: an electric foot massager, dreamed up for Dr. Scholl. There's a one-footer ($10.95) and a two-footer ($16.95)

In the Princeton University Store, a lot of games including the topical "Water Pollution" and "Smog the Air" (both for $7.95). Good for guessing where the Lake Carnegie dredgings will be dumped.

Nomad Carryalls in red, green, yellow or beige with a sturdy shoulder strap ($6.95); and foam cushion pads for the football games. Unzip the pad and pull out the orange poncho.

The traditional Princeton chair also comes in a rocking version ($55 and $50); You can have someone's name stenciled on the back of the "Director's Chair" ($17.95. The back and seat are orange duck cloth.

The U-Store offers sheet music and song books filled with Christmas songs. Oxford Uni-

Women's World

For the woman who has had it with egg beaters, "Women's Lib Cookware" at the Eye for Art. Nails, keys, screws welded to kitchen utensils and finished in black. See the old washboard embellished with rows of keys and nails or the cupcake tin baking a batch of bolts and nuts, or the smashed eggbeater (Urises $8, $12, etc.)

A "security coat" from Elle, designed by Emmanuelle Khanh in soft fleece. Waterproofed with knapsack straps to fasten the front and the wrists.

University Press does fifty carols for a chorus ($2.50) and there is also a piano duet version of the carols. And, facing facts, the U-Store has simple versions for five fingers.

The Centennial edition of the University songbook, "Carmina Princetonia" is a thought for the alumnus on your list. Also the records of old and new favorites sung by the Nassoons, Tigertones and the Footnotes, and played by the University Band. ($5. & under)

For last-minute touch-ups around home, Regent Floor Covering has some ideas. Route 31 just north of Pennington.)

Before open house, fix up the powder room floor with the 12x12 "Place and Press" Excellon tiles. Quick to do, with long lasting results. Just remove the backing from each tile and put your weight down. Many, many designs: Delft Blue and white; marble chips, parquet, brick, pebbles, and even Spanish tiles in a burnt orange tone.

Regent has clear vinyl runners for carpet protection on snowy days. It's non-skid for fast operators.

And we found small throw rugs (27 x 54) for the odd places that need a cover: where the kids throw their wet boots, where the dog's water dish makes a mark, where you stand by the sink and so. Red plaids and also soft pastels. ($3.95)

"Fiddler" Sets Record

"Fiddler on the Roof," P.
J. & B. musical for 1971, has set a record for any and all P. J. & B. musicals in any year, ever.

All six performances are completely sold out, and it's the first time P. J. & B. has sold out before the play even opened. Standing-Room-Only tickets at $2.50 are available for all performances at the McCarter box-office.

Cannily estimating the interest in "Fiddler on the Roof," McCarter started out by scheduling five performances, which is itself a record: most P.J.&B.'s are given only four times.
But when ticket sales began to burst the box-office, the theatre scheduled a sixth performance and now that's sold out, too.

Sunday, Bloody Sunday
(now playing) is a highly sophisticated film dealing with an unusual love triangle. Director John Schlesinger delves into offbeat relationships, as he did in "Midnight Cowboy."

Glenda Jackson and Peter Finch are at the opposite ends of the triangle with Murray Head, as lover to both, in the third corner. The film's most important sequence comes not at the end of the film, nor in Miss Jackson's or Finch's relationship to their common lover, but in their extraordinary confrontation, which proves not only their humanity but also their ability to come to awareness of the other's reality.

ART In Princeton

AS WINTER NEARS

At John Witherspoon School
A most unusual collection of contemporary graphics based on a common religious theme is one of the features of this sweeping exhibition of the world's major religions.

Seven local printmakers were invited to participate in this show. They have created prints based upon the maxim, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," as it is interpreted and reflected in seven different religions.

The results reflect a range of graphic techniques and forms along with varying artistic styles and points of view. Collographs, wood blocks, multicolor etchings and blind stamping, alone and in combination, portray religious symbols, calligraphy, architectural forms and figurative techniques in a range of color and style.

Both contemporary and traditional motifs are combined through color and pattern to yield abstract combinations of space and design in some of the prints. Other prints are literal symbols and story-telling methods.

All are multi-colored. They reflect the printers' concern with color and tone through various methods of inking and combinations of both translucent and opaque areas.

The artists and the religions they depict are Yvonne Burk, Confucianism; Trudy Glucksberg, Islam; Ann Gross, Buddhism; Margaret Kennard Johnson, Christianity; Mae Rockland, Judaism; Marie Sturken, Hinduism; and Helen Schwartz, Sikhism.

At The Eye for Art. The introduction of acrylic paint has expanded the artist's possibilities with form and tone in two dimensional painting. In some cases it has even encouraged what was once surface painting to become three dimensional art without ever leaving its board.

Paintings by English painter Smithey belong in this category. Although these interesting paintings are created on a flat plane, the surface of the painting is manipulated with plastic extenders to create a well structured, non-objective pattern. Attractively developed areas of texture and relief form patterns and shapes and are then covered with rich glazes.

Most of the paintings are limited to tones and varieties of one color with the intricately worked surface performing as both design and shadow.

At Gallery 100, Watercolors and etchings by Don Werden reflect the local scene in his familiar landscapes of Princeton and Bucks county. Many of the prints are local bucolic etchings and engravings done with a fine hand.

Using themes of architecture and landscape, Mr. Werden displays his tonal areas well by making excellent use of his white areas. Stark white, well-structured space contrasts and encourages middle values to work effectively in these engravings.

Art In Princeton

Mr. Werden's skill as a watercolorist is demonstrated in several paintings dealing with familiar and traditional themes. They are most interesting where he loosens the use of the medium and allows form and color to do its visual work together with the literally displayed subjects.

At the Artisan, New paintings by John Painter and an extensive collection of pottery and other hand crafted objects fill most of the Artisan in its December display. Pots, bowls and ashtrays, some thrown on a wheel and some made by other methods sit with bells, small decorative pieces and some humorous and some useful earthenware. Potters included are Nonnie Barnes, the Lebow pottery, Rosemary Taylor, Hickory Grove, David Davis and Trudy Kearl.

John Painter works in acrylics in both flat and textured forms. His paintings are realistic and carefully crafted. The landscapes in muted brown are developed to show texture in the tall sea grasses.

Weavings by Betty Parks, Gladys Hoisington and Pat Kern demonstrate the uses and combinations of various fibers and objects in their work. Beads, feathers, pieces of wood and twine are combined with wools and other fibers of varying thickness. The results are often visually exciting combinations of textural effects, sizes and pattern created by the different size materials.

At Studio on the Canal, Thomas Malloy is a watercolorist who works very hard to keep a traditional feeling alive in his painting. Realistic landscapes are his subject and his palette is composed of subdued colors.

Working predominantly in cool tones with soft wash techniques, Mr. Malloy portrays country landscapes and urban views with equal skill. In many of the paintings, loosely used color flows in line contrast to definite line, yielding nice visual balances.

— Helen Schwartz

EXHIBIT AT DOUGLASS

Of Mrs. Rockland's Works. Selected works by painter and printmaker Mae Rockland of 8 Madison Street, are on display this month at the Douglass College Library, New Brunswick.

The exhibition, which runs through December 31, is the third in a series of art exhibits collectively entitled "Eight Women Artists." The series, which each month features a different woman artist, is running from October, 1971 through April, 1972.

A member of the faculty of the Princeton Art Association, Mrs. Rockland is a noted artist whose works appear in both private collections and museums. She has had one-woman shows in many countries, including Japan, Argentina and Spain, where she won an award at the Spanish National Exhibition.

A graduate of the High School of Music and Art in New York City, Mrs. Rockland studied at Hunter College and the State College of Ceramic Design at Alfred and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. She is the wife of Douglass College Assistant Dean Michael Rockland and the mother of three.

PAA TO HOLD SALE

To Benefit Graphics Atelier. Princeton Art Association will hold a graphics show and sale to benefit the Graphics Atelier located on 3 Spring Street. Funds raised from previous sales have contributed to the setting up and continued building of the Graphic Atelier into a first-rate professional facility for Princeton area artists.

The benefit sale this year will be again held at Gallery 100 from Tuesday through Saturday, December 18 with the hopes that the PAA will be assured of a 30" press sometime this spring. This is an opportunity to purchase works of art valued at $50, and under contributed by outstanding artists.

A reception will be held at Gallery 100 on Tuesday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. for the exhibitors, their friends, and anyone else interested in attending. In addition, there will be a "Gala Grand Closing" on December 18 complete with brass band and eggnog for last minute shoppers.

MUSIC In Princeton

GOSPEL . . .
Langston Hughes Musical.
"Tambourines to Glory" will bring the sound of gospel music to the Princeton Youth Center this weekend and next as the Langston Hughes play (music by Jube Huntley) is presented on the stage of the Princeton Youth Center. Performances are at 8:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday and again next Friday and Saturday, under the auspices of the Hansberry Arts Workshop. Don Evans is directing. Dorothy Alexander is music director, and Louise Davis has designed the sets.

"Tambourines to Glory" is described as "an old-fashioned morality play" set in Harlem. The Devil (played by T. Richard Cunningham, is a smooth operator who spends his time leading young women astray. ## Who Uses the Public Library? 49% Of Us Do

Half of the Princeton community uses the Princeton Public Library and only three percent of the people don't know where the library is.

An extensive and comprehensive survey of library use, conducted last year by Andrew D. Scrimgeour, Seminary student, was released this week by the library.

For the survey, Mr. Scrimgeour and his two associates, Fred Eaves, a Princeton University undergraduate, and Pete Kinyon, another Seminary student, used an area probability sample of 281 residents, chosen to exclude dormitory residents and business firms. Of these, 151 were library users, and they were asked the questions pertaining to library use.

The library was especially interested in finding out how well it was serving the black community, young people between 15 and 24 and adult males, so these categories were set up as "special interest groups."

Who uses the library?

Almost five residents in every ten — 47 percent — have a library membership card. Of these, 38 percent are the adult males in whom the library is interested. In the high school age bracket, 87 percent are members; 38 percent of the nonwhite residents are members, and 49 percent of the white residents. Lower-income families (under $10,000: 43 percent) are less likely to be members than high-income ($20,000 and over: 51 percent).

Also, one half the people in Princeton actually use the library, quite apart from merely being members and in the black community, the survey found significant that 53 percent use the library, even though only 38 percent are members.

—If people don't use the library, why not?

Non-users — 40 percent of them — said they used another library, (probably one in the University's library system). In this category are 70 percent of the 19-24 age group and 48 percent of the men.

"Not enough time" was another reason for not using the library, and the time factor accounts for 30 percent of the non-users. Here the black community, families with children and the elderly, contributed significant percentages: 37 percent of the non-whites interviewed, 30 percent of the families with children, and 45 percent of the over-65 non users said they just didn't have time.

•What are the best things about the library?

Reference materials, books-and-reading and "a good atmosphere for study" were at the top of the answers to this question.

Reference material drew 51 percent of the library's users, while 41 percent cited the obvious "books-and-reading" and 15 percent mentioned a good atmosphere for study.

•What improvements would

Library Has Birthday

Princeton's public library building was five years old on Sunday, and to celebrate, Librarian Robert Staples lighted a few statistics on the birthday cake.

In the years since December 5, 1966, the library has circulated 1,700,000 items. So far in 1971 alone, 302,000 have circulated.

This means that every man, woman and child in Princeton, theoretically checks out 14.7 items each year. That compares with the American Library Association's national average of 9 items.

Of New Jersey's 355 public libraries, Princeton is 14th in terms of circulation. Mr. Staples says that for a small library like Princeton (size is defined by the number of books, and Princeton has only 76,378), being 14th is very remarkable indeed.

Library patrons like to see?

Sunday afternoon hours and an improved book-record collection were at the top: 42 percent wanted Sunday afternoons and 41 percent wanted a beefier collection.

In a group breakdown, men tended to favor Sundays over more books, women favored an improvement in the book-record collection over Sunday hours. Families with younger children wanted a better book-record collection; lower-income families wanted the Sunday hours.

The library wasn't open Sunday afternoons when the survey was made, and 48 percent of the users said the hours in effect at that time were good; however, a significant minority (25 percent) said they were only "adequate." Replying to questions about improving the library, 21 percent of the non-white users asked for a stronger collection of books on black culture.

•How many young people use the library?

The staff was delighted to find that 77 percent of Princeton children are "active library members" — more girls (81 percent) than boys (71 percent).

Although the 15-18 age bracket is regarded as "adult" in the survey, more people in this group use the phonograph records than those in any other group — 49 percent, compared to the next closest, which is 29 percent of the women users. The lowest percentage group, curiously, is the 19-24 age, with only 15 percent using the recordings.

Tiger Quintet Awaits Villanova after Trouncing North Carolina

Down below the Mason-Dixon Line, they still won't believe it, but 5,000 people around here will swear that Monday night in Jadwin Gym, Princeton soundly trounced North Carolina's second-ranked basketball team, 89 to 73. But even in these parts, which have been accustomed to occasional basketball miracles since the Bill Bradley era began, it is hard to realize that the Tigers outplayed the team rated second only to UCLA during much of the evening, and then turned the contest into a rout in the closing minutes.

On tap next is Villanova, last year's NCAA finalist and 19th ranked as the week began. The Wildcats will be here Saturday at 8 for an anticipated barn-burner that should come close to filling Jadwin.

SPORTS in Princeton

Next Tuesday, the Orange and Black will play Navy at Annapolis, and the following weekend it will be in Lexington, Ky., for the Kentucky Invitation Tournament.

While there were, from where the enraptured Princetonians sat, numerous fascinating achievements during the triumph over North Carolina, these ranked as the most unexpected:

- Playing the third game of his varsity career, Andy Rimol thoroughly dominated his match-up against the highly-publicized 6-10 Bob McAdoo, the North Carolina center. Rimol outpointed him (23-20), outshot him (47%-42%) and drew far more fouls with his aggressive play under the boards. He was 9 for 12 on the line: McAdoo missed the only free throw he was awarded.

- Paced by Rimol and Teddy Manakas (21), the Tigers had the balance to survive a low-scoring night for Brian Taylor. Held to 12 in the first 39 minutes, he added a pair of baskets on breakaways in the final seconds to finish with 16, but there is sufficient overall scoring power to make the Tigers a constant threat.

- While Coach Pete Carril

went with only seven players, he has unusual depth despite the once-shocking loss of Bill Kapler and Bill Daake. Sophomore John Sadlosca came off the bench to give a spectacular 5-for-6 performance, and senior Reg Bird turned in another fine backcourt job in relief of Manakas and Taylor.

- After leaving the court with a slim but highly creditable 36-34 half-time advantage, the Ivy Leaguers shot a tremendous 69% in the second half — to 45% for the Atlantic Coast Conference quintet. In the final 16 minutes, Princeton outscored North Carolina, 42 to 26.

Fast Start for Tarheels. A pair of three-point plays in the first minute of action got the visitors away to a quick 6-0 lead, but the Tigers were not unduly awed and by 6:52, John Berger sank a free throw that brought them even at 14-all. No more than five points separated the teams during the next ten minutes, there was another tie at 32 apiece and when Rimol converted a pair of fouls with 16:57 left in the half, Princeton never trailed again.

Midway through the second period, Manakas hit on a pair of shots from 25 feet out, Berger contributed a sidecourt basket and three fouls within a space of 70 seconds, and the Tigers began to open up a gap. At the 12-minute mark, they moved out to a 72-61 lead and the decibels began to spill all over Jadwin.

Now the pressure began to tell on the Tigers, and they missed a succession of one-and-one opportunities that could have been extremely costly. Rimol, Taylor and Manakas all went to the line, producing among them one point out of a potential six.

The visitors, however, were frantically playing catch-up ball, and it didn't work. Forcing their shots, they never came closer than nine points and when Manakas went to the line again, this time converting both shots, the Tigers coasted to their first victory over a team ranked no. 2 nationally.

There are indications that the season ahead will sizzle noisily.

Sports In Princeton

Prior to the win over North Carolina, Princeton split its first two games, running up a wholly unexpected 31-point margin over an extremely confident Rutgers quintet but failing to maintain its momentum when it lost to Penn State at University Park. The Scarlet was drubbed here, 99 to 68, while the Nittany Lions won, 72-70, in a contest that was not quite that close.

The Tigers trailed by three (34-31) at the half in their game Friday at Penn State and by as much as 11 following the intermission, but then rallied near the close and with 12 seconds left, stood a chance of a least sending the game into overtime. Despite Andy Rimol's departure with 2:10 to go via a fifth personal, Princeton cut the margin to 70-68 and Brian Taylor had the ball.

Before he could get off a shot, however, Penn State's highly-advertised sophomore, Ron Brown, stole the ball and dribbled the length of the floor for the uncontested layup that sealed the outcome. Ted Manakas added a basket just before the buzzer to no avail. The near-errorless ball that the Tigers had played two nights earlier against Rutgers was a standard they could not maintain at University Park, where they were also beaten last winter by a team not figured to cut much mustard in the East. Taylor's 39-point outburst against Rutgers, (equalling the Jadwin record set two years ago by Geoff Petrie) was pared to 21, and he was charged with eight turnovers.

The losers were called for 26 personals to 17 for Penn State, outscoring them, 30-26, from the floor but taking 68 shots to do so to 50 for the home team. The percentages were 44, Princeton, and a flame-throwing 56 for Penn State.

Taylor's 21 earned scoring honors for the night, and the Tigers put four others in double figures, ranging from 15 for Manakas to 13 for Captain Al Duffy, 11 for Rimol and 10 for his replacement, Gerry Couzens. That gave the Tigers 21 from the center position, a higher total than at any time since Chris Thom-forde graduated, but it was simply one more effort in a losing cause.

Rutgers Demolished. The largest crowd ever to see a Princeton basketball game here — 7,550—filled Jadwin to its last seat and saw a rebuilt Princeton quintet take full charge of the occasion. The visitors had been talking of a 25-and-0 record as a possible achievement, based on considerable holdover strength and the addition of a transfer from New Mexico, John Somogyi.

A highly individualistic player, he took as many shots (22) as the next three players combined to score 30 points, but the Scarlet offense accordingly lacked both balance and cohesion. When Taylor easily outpointed him with 39 and Rimol led four other Princetonians into double figures with 16, a contest that was close in the early going ended as a rout.

In the first 19 minutes, the Tigers led briefly only once by as many as four points, the lead changed hands four times and with 32 seconds left in the half, Princeton was clinging to a 39-37 lead. Then a jump by Taylor, followed by a steal under the Rutgers basket by Manakas who fed Reg Bird for a three-point play gave the Orange and Black five points in 12 seconds and it left the floor with a strong seven-point (44-37) margin.

Holding the visitors scoreless from the floor for nearly five minutes when action resumed, Princeton ballooned its lead to 58-40 and school was out. The Tigers coasted thereafter, used 11 players in all and put the icing on the cake when everybody's favorite, the personable Roger Gordon, threw in a 35-foot buzzer shot that barely rippled the cords.

Villanova Strong Again. Saturday's opponent, a Villanova team without its three-year star, Howard Porter, whose premature signing of a professional contract last December cost it most of its big collection of victories, is again one of the best of the eastern independents. The Wildcats began the week with a 2-0 mark, following victories over Philadelphia Textile and Detroit. Chris Ford and Hank Siemontkowski are the chief threats on the Mainliners' quintet, which Princeton took into overtime a year ago in the Palestra before losing. A sizeable crowd is expected to accompany the Pennsylvanians here for their annual meeting with the Tigers.

Navy, a 94-74 loser to Penn on the Quakers' court Saturday, will test the Tigers' ability to win the games in which they are favored. The middies can be sticky on their own floor.

PHS VS. HUNTERDON

Home Opener Tuesday. The Princeton High School basketball team, which opened its season Tuesday at Brick Township, will play its second game Friday night in Flemington against Hunterdon Central. Starting time for the varsity contest is 8 p.m.

Coach Larry Ivan's Little Tigers will open at home Tuesday afternoon against Franklin Township. The 4 p.m. contest is one of two afternoon games on the schedule.

Ivan opened the season with a quintet consisting of two sophomores, two juniors and one senior. The sophomores, from whom he is expecting much as the season progresses, are Craig Robinson (5-9), KENT BAIN is the lone returning senior on the Princeton High School starting basketball team. He is 6-0.

and Bobby King (6-3). Leon Robinson (6-3) will return at center. He and Larry Miller (6-0) are the juniors, while Kent Bain (6-0) is the lone senior. Bain and Robinson are lettermen.

"We're going to be green," said Ivan. "We'll send the seniors in if we have to," he added.

Tony Bailey Suspended. Iv-

an's hopes of getting off to a fast start received a setback — temporarily at least — with the three-week suspension of Tony Bailey. Bailey, who has the talent to be as good a player as he wants to be, was suspended for refusing to leave when Ivan sent in a substitution for him in the scrimmage last Wednesday with East Brunswick.

"He was just going through the motions out there; he didn't want to pay the price for the team," said Ivan. Bailey, he added, can return to the team December 20 — "if he wants to."

Another unexpected turn was the report that Gil Spencer, a junior who has performed well in practice, apparently has aggravated a back injury he received in football and has had his effectiveness impaired. "We're giving him whirlpool treatments now," said Ivan.

PHS played its final pre-season scrimmage Saturday against Hun School. It showed the team had gained a little more composure and poise and had improved its passing. Ivan reported. It also revealed "that we're not going to the middle. We're favoring one side or the other on a fast break."

"Overall," continued Ivan, "we're improving a little with each ballgame." He said that he had such good bench strength this year that he could insert "one here, one there" without any noticeable loss in performance.

Four players that he predicted would see a lot of action are Leon Gibson, Dane Black, John Yeoman and Tim Atkins.

MATMEN OPEN FRIDAY

Against Ewing. The Princeton High School wrestling team, 7-7 last year, will open its season Friday night at 8 against Ewing in the Princeton High School gym. A jayvee match will start at 6:30.

Wednesday evening, the Little Tigers, who coach Murray has described as "inexperienced but a team with a lot of potential" will entertain always-strong North Hunterdon. Again the starting time will be 8 p.m. with a jayvee match preceding the varsity bout.

"We're young, we're green as grass," observed Murray. He has only two seniors in the starting lineup—Howie Heiner, the team captain, who will wrestle in the 141-pound class, and Mark Holcombe a transfer student from Notre Dame.

Sprinkled through the inexperience, however, are a lot of standout individual performers such as Andy Foltiny, Andy Bolster and Lionel Ham-

The shape of things to come.

Prediction

The Volkswagen Beetle will be around for years to come.

Prediction

Someone else somewhere will introduce a new economy car and there will be lots of excitement.

Prediction

The excitement will die down.

Prediction

As in the past, people who own old Volkswagens will trade them in for new Volkswagens because (we guess) they like Volkswagens.

Prediction

Our engineers will continue to improve the way the car works and our stylists will continue to be frustrated.

Prediction

Sometime in 1972, the Beetle will become the most popular single model automobile ever made in the world, by-passing the Model T Ford with production of over 15 million vehicles.

Prediction

We won't let that last prediction go to our heads.

ule, however, is tougher than ever, according to Murray. Newcomers include Rancocas Valley, district champions last year from Southern New Jersey. Woodrow Wilson from Bucks County, Pa. and St. Thomas Aquinas, a new school from Edison. Hun and Cedar Ridge have been dropped. As it is, because of schools turning more to intra-conference competition, PHS is still searching for two opponents to try to fill its 14 openings.

Following are the leading contenders for the various weight divisions. Andy Foltiny and Andy Bolster will alternate in the 98-106-pound classes. Both are fine wrestlers, especially Foltiny who broke into the lineup two years ago as a freshman.

The 115-lb class is a toss-up between Phil Ebersole, who wrestled in some varsity matches last year, and Chris Schneeweiss. Both are sophomores. Martin Kahn, a senior just recovering from a broken collarbone and Richard Kohlhepp are contending in the 123-pound class with a slight edge to Kahn. Kohlhepp is a junior. Keith Holcombe, younger brother of Mark (there is also a sophomore, Mike, on the team) looks like the one in the 130-pound class. "He's only a junior and he's going to be good," predicts Murray.

Richard Warfield, a sophomore, and Ken DeRemer, a junior, are battling to represent the 136-pound class. DeRemer has some varsity experience; Warfield strong and solid, lacks only the experience to be a standout, reported Murray.

EUGENE DOHERTY, who agreed to coach the PHS hockey team last year without any previous experience, will start his second year as coach of the Blue and White sextet. He did not lose a single starter through graduation.

Heitner is solidly entrenched at 141, while Bob Zinsmeister, another sophomore, appears to have the 140-pound class nailed down. One thing seems certain—two years from now, Murray is going to have some team.

Hammond at 157. At 157 is Lionel Hammond, who says Murray, "probably has more natural talent than anyone on the team. He's tremendous."

His biggest problem is his mental outlook.

Angelo Arcaro, who won the freshman state tournament last year in the 168-pound level with two pins and two decisions, will return to the same weight class. He should dominate it.

Wes McClain, third in district matches last year, will wrestle at 178 and Mark Holcombe will be the heavyweight.

OPENER SATURDAY

For PHS Hockey Team. A Princeton High School hockey team, which will be a "heck of a lot better" than the one last year which posted a 3-8-1 record, will open its season Saturday against the Lawrenceville School jayvees.

The game will be played at Lawrenceville's Lavino Rink, starting at 4.

The heck-of-a-lot-better assessment is from coach Eugene Doherty, now starting his second year, and it is based on his not having lost a single starter through graduation. "All things being equal, if the other teams aren't any better than they were last year, we should win more than we lose this year," predicted Doherty.

So far, the Little Tiger squad of about 30 has had only a few practice sessions. Unchanged as usual is the problem of sufficient ice time. With no rink of its own, the team has to practice between 8:30 and 9:30 in the evening at the Princeton Day School rink where it plays all its home games.

Doherty lists Steve Sanford, John Weber and Brooks Morhmann as his three standout players. Both Weber and Sanford are starting their third year on the varsity. Morhmann is the goalie.

Others are wingmen Mark Richards, Alex Lamar, Jodie Delano, David Gates and defensemen David Ludlum, Nick Robinson and Scott Marsh.

A freshman who "Has been playing since he was 6 years old" says Doherty who should help out a lot is Wyn Dix. Pat Davis, whom Doherty was counting on to play was hurt during the summer. "It's a question mark whether he'll be available," said Doherty.

HUN FIVE LACKS HEIGHT

Has Long Way to Go. After one week of practice and scrimmages against Wardlaw and Princeton High School, Hun School basketball coach Dave Leete observed, "We still have a long way to go."

Hun will open its season next Thursday at home against Delbarton.

"We won't be extremely fast and we'll be small. Hopefully, we'll shoot well and make our own breaks because we aren't going to get that many rebounds," said Leete. Sophomore Biff Hollowell at 6-2 is the tallest member of the Red and Black Squad.

Leete has three members of last year's varsity back — Pete Jones and John Hillman, this year's co-captains, and Alan Chalifous. Others, according to Leete, who have looked good in practice so far are Dennis Skrajewski, a senior; juniors John Loughlin, Dick Sword, Kevin Tylus, and Scott Johnson; Brent Bystrycki, a sophomore; and two freshmen, Brian Logue and Tony Trani. Johnson, Loughlin and Hollowell are up from the jayvee team.

Last year, Hun suffered through a dismal 7-13 season. This year, however, Leete sees Hun as having a shot at capturing its division crown in the Penn-Jersey League. Hun is bracketed with Germantown Friends, George School, Perkiomen and Pennington.

George lost heavily through graduation and Leete sees Germantown Friends and Pennington as the teams to beat this season.

Leete is being assisted by Terry Beach. Craig Hannas is the new freshman coach.

CLUB OFFICERS NAMED

At Springdale, Ralph Mather has been elected president of Springdale Golf Club for 1972, succeeding John Sienkiewicz. Mather is chairman of the board at The First National Bank.

Harry Volwieder will serve as vice-president, with Theodore Tams continuing as secretary and Kester Pierson replacing Mather as treasurer. Elections were held last week at the reorganization meeting of the Board of Governors.

Committee chairmen for the coming year are Volwieder, greens; Slover Hollister, house; Robert Shillaber, golf; Arthur Morgan, membership; and Donald Stuart, publicity.

BOWLING NOTES

Firemen in 3-Way Tie. After the last pin had fallen at the Princeton Lanes last week, three teams were tied for first place in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 42 points each; No. 3, KFD and Hook & Ladder. Belle Mead has 40.

Tom Johnson had 202 and Bill Davall 202 (573) for No. 3, while Doug Watson with 198 was high for H&L. Leslie Luck rolled 192 for KFD.

INTRODUCING the front-wheel drive Renault 12.

It took 73 years to make.

At Renault we have a proud tradition. In 1898 we built our first car. Today we introduce 73 years of experience: The Renault 12.

It is a brilliantly engineered machine. With front-wheel drive for incredible handling. Synchromesh four speed transmission. Rack and pinion steering. Disc brakes up front. Up to 30 mpg. A sealed liquid cooling system that virtually eliminates adding anti-freeze.

The Renault 12 is extremely comfortable. And there's plenty of trunk space: 12.8 cubic feet.

The Renault 12 is only one of a family of cars from a company that produces over one million a year. We have come a long way since 1898.

Others were Ed McKnight, 207; Mob Micinski, 209; Jack Petrone, 205 and Bill Whalley, 200. Ray Wyckoff rolled 198.

Bud Cavanaugh of Cenerino Lounge fashioned the high single game of 233 in the A League. Jim Shely of Hesco Electric rolled a pair: 206-203. Between 207 and 203 were Sam Lisi, Mike Penelli, Les Gibbs and Jerry Perpetua.

Hesco and Rialto Barber Shop are 12 in the standings with 59 and 52 points. Ivy Inn with 45 is third.

Scores were down in the Nassau League where Jim Shely of Princeton Aviation rolled 212. Tony Amalfitano had 202 and Jerry Perpetua and Vince Tufano, each 201.

Hinkson's has 51 points and the lead, followed by Hinds (48) and Princeton Aviation and Tiger Garage. The latter two have 46 each.

George Reynolds rolled a fine 197 in the Blue Angels Hi-Y league, one of the highest games in the high school loop. Jon Videbeck and Steve Kopp ad 148s, Jeff Petrone, 145.

Hooks leads Turkeys, 24-22, in the standings. Strikes (22) and Chicks (196) trail.

Rose Haskins with 206 was high in the Business Women's League. She rolls for Thorne's. Didi Waltman of Balestrieri had 195. Others: Betty Pirone, 189; Charlotte Rossi, 179; and Doris McGinnis, 173.

Ski Cards Available

The Mercer County Park Commission has announced that County residents may purchase identification cards at the Belle Mountain Ski Area Saturday and Sunday from 9 to 4:30.

total victory output of year ago and giving them, more than incidentally, their first pre-Christmas triumph in four years.

Sophomore Rich Hocking broke a 2-2 tie with the Friars with less than four minutes left in the final period and sophomore goalie Phil Robinson withstood all efforts by the home team to draw even again. Providence had beaten the Tigers here last winter, 8 to 3, and the victory was especially welcome as an indication of better things to come.

Princeton never trailed in the contest, the third line of Paul McNamara, Dick Hudson and Clay Kyle producing a pair of goals — one at 14:55 of the opening round and another at the nine-minute mark of the second. The home team drew even both times but could not match Hocking's 12-foot drive which capped a Princeton power play.

It was a well-earned victory, coming as the second contest of a tough road trip. Friday night, the Orange and Black had opened its season against Boston College at Chestnut Hill, Mass., losing 4 to 2.

An opening surge by BC which produced two goals in the first 14 minutes gave the Eagles all the edge they needed. Captain Art Schmon's unassisted goal early in the second round was followed by one credited to Larry Sanford while the Tigers were a man short, but that was the extent

Maybe someday
all cars will be built like the Citroen.

Maybe someday.

Maybe it depends on you.

When you demand a car, for example, that would ride like a Rolls but costs like a Chevy. One that would take curves like a Maserati but seats a five full passengers. A car that would be in every sense a luxury car—yet burns gas like a tiny Volkswagen (27 MPG).

Maybe you could get that kind of car from Detroit if you demanded it. Or you could buy one right now. It's called a Citroen. Just go to your nearest Citroen dealer and test drive it.

of their scoring. Junior Ed Swift, playing his first game in the goal this season, was credited with 44 saves. Coach Bill Quackenbush's use of three goalies in as many games marks the first time in the modern history of the sport here that such depth has been known at Princeton.

Boston University Saturday. The national champions, Boston University, will be in Baker Rink Saturday at 2, following Wednesday night's game with Army. Last winter, the powerful Terriers were a 14-2 victor over Princeton.

BU has a 20-goal per season player in Captain John Danby who heads a group of eight of the top ten forwards returning from last year's team. Bob Brown, a defenseman, earned All-American status in his junior year and the Massachusetts sextet has enough overall strength to entertain hopes of repeating on top of the heap.

Monday night will add an exhibition game to the schedule when the Tigers face the 1972 U. S. Olympic team which will represent this country in the winter games at Sapporo, Japan. The contest will start at 8 p.m.

The U. S. Nationals will practice here Monday from noon until 1 and Tuesday and Wednesday from 11 until 1. These sessions will be open to the public without charge.

A pair of Ivy League games will follow on the Princeton schedule. Brown at Providence next Wednesday and Harvard at Cambridge Friday, December 17, will provide the Tigers with two tough opponents. Brown took Cornell into overtime before losing, 5-4, while Harvard swamped a highly-regarded Penn team, 11 to 3.

PHS DROPS OPENER

To Brick Township, 66-61. No one can blame the Princeton High School basketball team if it cries "foul" after suffering an opening season loss to Brick Township Tuesday night. Played at the Brick home court, the game saw 52 fouls whistled against the Little Tigers. The home team converted 36 — half of them by Lee Scott, the game's high scorer — to win, 61-66. PHS outscored the victors from the floor, 23 to 15.

High scorers for the Little Tigers were Leon Robinson and Kent Bain with 12 and 11 points. Coach Larry Ivan received scoring from six other players as well in a balanced attack, including nine from Dane Black and seven each from John Yeoman and Larry Miller. Sophomore Craig Robinson chipped in with six more. PHS, which had a tendency last season to wilt in the second half, outscored Brick by one, 35-34, in the second half but it was unable to overcome the home team's steady parade to the free throw line. Scott finished with 36 points for Brick Township.

PRINCETON BANTAMS WIN

In International Hockey. The Princeton Bantam Hockey All-Stars triumphed last weekend over teams from Clinton, Ontario, and Clinton, N. Y. in three contests during the International Hockey Weekend at Clinton, N. Y. Four Most Valuable Player Awards and the Tournament Cup were brought home by the team. MVP winners were Chris Burchfield and John Ostrom, goalies; Bill McClellan, defenseman, and Carl Erdman, forward.

Princeton won its first game 5-2 over an undefeated Clinton, Ontario, team. The Canadians scored first on a power play halfway through a tightly-fought first period. Midway through the second period, Tom Moore scored Princeton's first goal on assists from Carl and Bill Erdman. The opponents' second goal, also on a power play, brought them a brief lead.

In the final period, Peter Lawson — Johnston scored on an assist from McClellan. Then, with Princeton's Ralph Gustafson in the penalty box, McClellan scored with an assist to Lawson-Johnston, followed by a goal by Steve Judge, assisted by Kip Nawn. Princeton had 27 shots to Clinton's 23.

Princeton won its second game, 5-2, over the Clinton, N. Y., Bantams. Princeton's Mike Hill scored first and a minute later Clinton scored on a power play. McClellan got the second goal.

In the second period, Lawson-Johnston scored on an assist from hard-driving Peter McLoughlin. Judge tallied, assisted by Moore and Hill, and Peter Chalverus scored on a pass from Lawson-Johnston.

In a challenge match the following day, the Canadians again lost to the Princeton Bantams 3-1 on goals by Carl Erdman from Ralph Brown, Judge, and John Meredith from Mike Young.

The original compositions are "Attitude to Arabesque", a waltz, and "Surprise Finale", a folk piece depicting the change from loneliness to fun. Another new piece called "Lightning" has been choreographed to electronic music by Milla Gibbons, director of the Aparri School and the Aparri Ballet.

"We have had such a success with our Snow White", Miss Gibbons says, "that we are already receiving requests to give it again at our next Ballet Festival."

Dancers from the Aparri Ballet for this performance are Wanda Drew, Holly Graves, Grace Haronian, Anne Kilbourne, Nannette Pallrand, Maureen Peterson, Jane Rehl, Sarah Rothrock, and Cynthia Werts. Costumes are by Aparri faculty member Colette O'Brady.

Obituaries

Fred Van Deventer, 67, formerly of 133 Mansgrove, died December 2 at his home in Colonial Heights, Va., near Petersburg. He was a radio newscaster and originator of the quiz show "Twenty Questions."

Born in Tipton, Ind., on December 5, 1903, Mr. Van Deventer began his newspaper career as a printer's devil on the local weekly while still in high school. He held a succession of newspaper and wire-service jobs that took him to, among other places, Indianapolis, Chicago, Springfield, O., and Detroit, where he entered radio broadcasting with station WJR.

He joined WOR as a newscaster in October, 1955, and his news programs immediately became popular. He started "Twenty Questions" on WOR and the Mutual network on February 2, 1946. He, his wife, the former Florence Rinard, and his son, Robert, were among the panelists. The program was modeled after the parlor game, "Animal, Vegetable or Mineral," and was one of the first quiz shows to make the transition from radio to television. It was broadcast on the old Dumont TV network and the A.B.C.-TV network before leaving the air in 1955.

Mr. Van Deventer then turned to writing and lecturing. A Mason, he wrote "Parade to Glory," concerning the Shriner's hospitals for crippled children, and "Cruising New Jersey Waters." He was a newscaster for Mutual Broadcasting Company during the early 1960's, retiring in 1966 to live in the South. He worked for two years for the Greenville (S.C.) News before taking his last job as a staff writer for The Petersburg Progress-Index.

In addition to his widow and his son Robert, who lives in Ardsley, Pa., he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jac Kennedy of Tucson, Ariz., and four grandchildren.

A Mason service was held in Colonial Heights, Va.

The Canes share an idea that is, today, distressingly rare. They think that wood furniture should be made of wood, brass lamps of brass, and that plastic is best restricted to toothbrush handles and toys. And they've done something about their idea: assembled several hundred fine upholstered pieces, museum re-creations, hand-crafted accessories, and custom-made furnishings, and put them all under one roof at Cane Farm. ## PADLOCKED!

Just suppose the one place in town where kids can "tell it like it is" couldn't listen. Or the place that's been closing the "Generation Gap" could offer nothing more than a communications gap.

How would you like it if the one place where there were professionals and volunteers 'round-the-clock to help solve the problems of vandalism, pot and race frictions locked its doors? Or, just suppose, the one place where everyone is welcome, regardless of race, creed or age — was no longer available.

It can happen! Specifically, if the YM-YWCA Building Fund fails to meet its financial goal—soon. If you haven't been happy with the way things have been going — don't wring your hands. Help solve the problems by contributing to the YM-YWCA Building Fund—now!

News Of The CHURCHES

ADVENT EVENTS

At Princeton Methodist. The Women's Society of Princeton United Methodist Church scheduled a program of Christmas music this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the church hall with Earl L. Cunningham as director. The Phillippo-Cleveland Circle was in charge.

The Ashbury Adult class will have a fellowship session this Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kirby. And on Monday, December 13, Chairman Hartwell Calcutt will convene a meeting of the Council on Ministries.

The Advent-Christmas Festival committee will sponsor a fellowship of decoration during the church school hour on Sunday, December 19. Materials will be supplied to each age group for making decorations appropriate to the place and season.

The committee is also presenting a family service of worship at 11, entitled "King of Hope," telling the Christmas story in scripture, readings, prayers and pageant. A light luncheon and a program follow.

Planners are the Rev. Dr. Jay K. Helms, Harvey Hook, Earl Cunningham, Anita Beck, Mabel Rugg, Ann Pace, Yvonne and John Macdonald, Edith Reiff, Dorothy Benson, Alice Jane Helms and members of the Women's Society.

Arrangements may be made to place memorial poinsettias at the December 26 Christmas service by calling the church office, 924 2613, by December 12.

MEDIEVAL CAROLS

In Advent Service. Trinity Church will have an Advent procession of lessons and carols at the 9 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday. Carols from the 12th through 15th Centuries will be heard.

Trinity's three choirs will take part, augmented by a consort of recorders, cornetto, racketts, gamba, bells and various percussion instruments. James Litton, organist and choirmaster, will direct.

The medieval service was held in the church last year, and the Rev. James R. Whittemore, rector, has pointed out that it is an attempt to regain the "multi-media" worship experience of the medieval Church in a 20th Century setting.

Features of the service include the playing of percussion instruments made by members of the congregation during Advent workshops; the procession itself, during which the ministers, lay readers and choirs move from the West end of the church to the East, "from darkness to light," and the close in which choir members pass out apples with rosemary, a symbol of fallen man, redeemed.

Instrumentalists include Jennifer Lehmann, Geoffrey Naylor, Sylvia Fontain, Dr. Edwin Hopkins, Wylie Aaron, Jerry Custer, Helena Snow, the Rev. Joseph Harrison, Edgar Rehich and Elizabeth Ettinghausen. All members of the congregation have been asked to bring percussion instruments or kitchen pots and pans to join with the choirs during several carols.

Trinity's three choirs will repeat the service later in the day at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Abbey, Morristown.

TO MARK THE HOLIDAYS

At Unitarian Church. Programs and services in celebration of Chanukah, Christmas and the New Year 1971-1972 will be held this month in the Unitarian Church, State and Cherry Hill Roads. Rev. Robert L. Cope, minister, emphasized that the holiday season is an important one in the life of the church and in the lives of the individuals who make up the congregation.

He has planned a trilogy of sermons, with special music selected for each Sunday. This week, the theme is Chanukah. The Rev. Mr. Cope's sermon title is "How a Simple Jewish Girl Found Happiness as the 'Mother of God' and Fulfillment as Our Lady of Guadalupe." William and Louise Cheadle will be the duopianists.

On December 19, the theme is Christmas. Music will be provided by Cynthia Hoebel, pianist, and Jayn Seigel, flutist. Mathilde McKinney, pianist, will present the music on January 2, when the theme is the new year.

The Rev. Mr. Cope and the Rev. Fred Ward, minister of education, will lead the Christmas Eve services. There will be a service of carols, candle-lighting and dedication of children at 5; followed at 11 by the adult service, when Doris and Lenore Allen will be pianists.

An informal family service is set for the 26th, by the fireplace in Robinson Lounge. Maryalice Witte and Bart Hoebel, and the Rev. Mr. Cope will relate the songs and stories of Christmas.

Other events include the annual sherry party and sale of fruit cake by the Women's Alliance at 1 p.m. on December 16; and the family workshop on December 17. On January 1, there will be an open house and musicale at 3 p.m.

TO HOLD SERVICE

Honoring Missionary. The Home and Foreign Mission department of Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 4245

Birch Avenue, is sponsoring a special service at 8 p.m. on Monday honoring Sister Martha Barber, missionary on leave from Africa.

All are invited to attend the service, which will be led by the Rev. C. Guidry, pastor.

ADVENT SERVICES

In Miller Chapel. Princeton Theological Seminary has planned special services in Miller Chapel during this week. All begin at 11 a.m.

Holy communion will be celebrated at this Thursday's service, seminary middler Craig D. Erickson is leader.

On Friday, madrigal singers and an orchestra from the Princeton Day School will give the musical portion of the program. Carol Lewis and Frank Jacobson are directors. Readings and prayers will be under the leadership of seminary senior Francis E. Beyea.

TO GIVE "MESSIAH"

At First Presbyterian. The Christmas portions of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented this Sunday at the 11 a.m. service in First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Mary Krimmel is director of the church's 49-voice choir.

Soloists are Charlene Weicksel, soprano; Nancy Dodson, alto; Warren Dodson, tenor and Edward Fox, bass. Miss Anna Royer will be at the organ, and Joseph Kovacks will direct the string quartette. It has become traditional at the church to hear a major musical offering on the Third Sunday of Advent. Mrs. Krimmel has alternated between the Messiah and Bach's "Magnificat."

DUNELLEN CHOIR SET

For St. Andrew's Concert. Charpentier's "Messe de Minuit pour Noel" will be presented by the Dunellen High School Choir at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 19, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. James Heard is conductor, with Patricia Maimone at the organ.

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land... and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?

PRETTY BROOK ROAD

Some say, the loveliest country lane in all of Princeton. On its picturesque course along the shaded banks of Stony Brook, we have two quite different properties for you to consider: One, a rambling, architect-designed, one story house with a pleasantly rustic ambience, is perfectly suited to a relaxed, informal life style. On one rhododendron-banked acre, it has two living rooms, each with fireplace; dining balcony and kitchen. In one wing, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and a study or dressing room open into a multi-purpose studio family room; while, in another, you'll discover a bedroom, bath and sitting room with greenhouse that would make a super master suite or guest apartment. Secluded terrace. Two car carport has heated workshop.

Offered for the first time at $89,500.

Or, if the location is appealing, but you prefer to design your own world, we can take you a bit further down the road, past the Pretty Brook Club and show you a lovely 2½ acre house site with about a million trees and its own meandering stream. With all city utilities it can be yours at $42,500.

IT'S GOT ELEGANCE

Along with just enough informality of plan and surprising nooks and crannies to give it the warm feeling of the Pennsylvania farmhouse from which it was adapted. A wide center hall runs through the house from front to back and opens to a covered porch and terrace, as do both the living room and dining room that flank it. Quietly off by itself there's a cozy pine paneled library with bow window, bar, and adjoining powder room. The kitchen's a dream... bright and sunny with yards of counter space and all appliances. Upstairs, there are 5 bedrooms and 3 full baths. There's a terrific full basement with extra high ceilings just waiting to be put to good use. 3 fireplaces, completely and luxuriously carpeted and centrally air-conditioned. Western Princeton Township. Not available 'til Spring so you'll have plenty of time to sell your own house. New to the market $135,000.

An American Primitive

A barely restorable Colonial farmhouse tucked away in the Sourland Mountains on 30 acres just above Hopewell. The stone smokehouse "sans roof" is a museum piece. A hand laid stone wall which surrounds the property is characteristic of the perseverance of our Colonial ancestors. The acreage would provide a setting for several homes: plenty of big trees, a small stream, and a potential pond site. Pick a bright sunny day and call for a tour. You'll enjoy this quaint bit of Americana. $69,000
